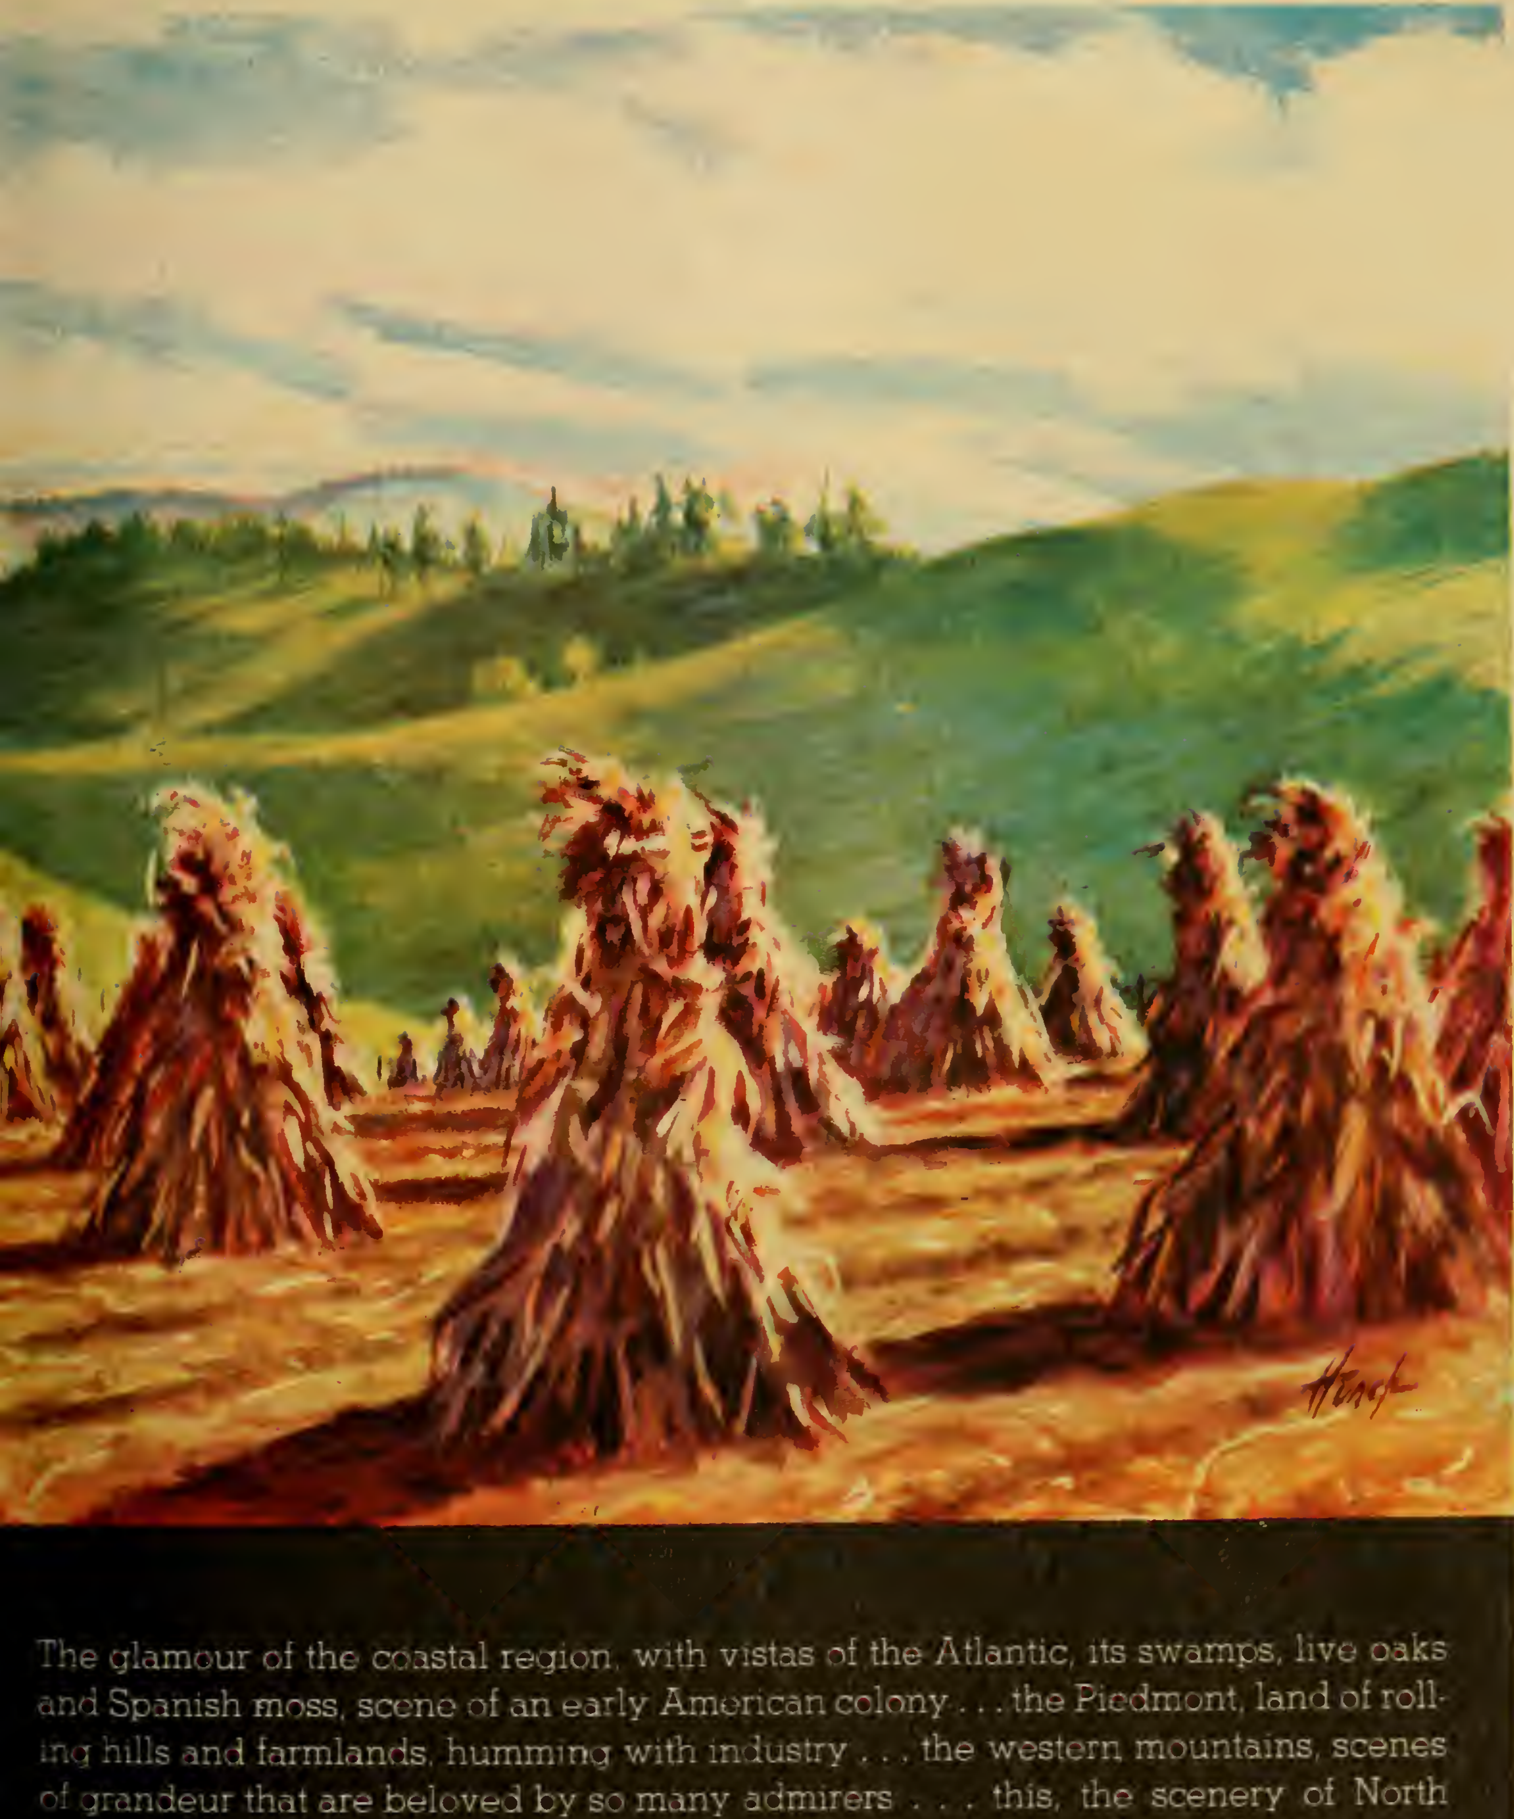
THEME



The glamour of the coastal region, with vistas of the Atlantic, its swamps, live oaks and Spanish moss, scene of an early American colony . . . the Piedmont, land of rolling hills and farmlands, humming with industry . . . the western mountains, scenes of grandeur that are beloved by so many admirers . . . this, the scenery of North Carolina, is the theme of the Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-six Duke CHANTICLEER.

From a Photograph by Bayard Wootten

To North Carolina, home of Duke University and of the industries that made it possible, a state typical of the "Old South" and of the new, this volume of the Duke CHANTICLEER . . . . is affectionately dedicated.

Dr. William Preston Few has served as President of Trinity College and Duke University since 1910; last December Dr. Few celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary as head of the institution. He received his A.B. Degree from Wofford College in 1889, A.M. from Harvard in 1893, and Ph.D. in 1896, his LL.D. from Wofford College in 1911, Southwestern University, 1912, Allegheny College, 1915, Syracuse University, 1928, Ohio Wesleyan, 1928, and University of North Carolina, 1932, his Litt.D. from Birmingham Southern College in 1930. In 1933, he was President of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and for 1935-36 he was named President of the Southern University Conference.

ADMINIS-

Robert Lee Flowers

THE BUSINESS DIVISION

Much of the untiring effort which has made possible the transition from Trinity College to Duke University has been expended by the Business Division. The offices of this division are responsible for the supervision of loan and scholarship funds, the collection of accounts, the provision for classrooms, rooming and boarding accommodations, the purchase of supplies, and the care and maintenance of the East and West Campus buildings and grounds.

Robert Lee Flowers, Vice President in the Business Division, was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1891. He resigned from the Navy to accept an instructorship in mathematics at Trinity. He is also Secretary and Treasurer of the University, Secretary of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, a Trustee of the Duke Endowment, and of several other institutions.

Henry R. Dwire, Director of the Department of Public Relations and Alumni Affairs, graduated from Trinity College in 1902, and received his M.A.degree the following year. One of the outstanding figures in Southern journalism, he is Managing Editor of the South Atlantic Quarterly, and Editor of the Duke University Alumni Register. Charles E. Jordan, Assistant Secretary, has direct supervision of the correspondence with prospective students. C. B. Markham, Assistant Treasurer, has been greatly instrumental in organizing and directing the Treasurer's Office, and in conducting the business of the University. Frank C Brown came to Trinity College in 1909 as Professor of English, but for many years has been Comptroller of the University.

Henry R. Dwire

THE EDUCATION DIVISION

The history of Duke University is marked by several distinct stages. After its beginning in 1835 as Union Institute, it became Normal College in 1851, and Trinity College in 1859. During this period the college was located in Randolph County, N. C.; but in 1892 it was transferred to Durham. Duke University was founded in 1924 as a result of the Duke Endowment provided for in the will of the late James B. Duke. Trinity College is the name still retained to designate the division of undergraduate instruction.

William H. Wannamaker, Vice President of the University in the Education Division and Dean of the University, has been a part of Duke University for thirty-seven years, first as Professor of German, and later as Dean and Vice President. He received his A.B. degree from Wofford College in 1895, and his M.A. degree from Trinity College in 1901 and from Harvard in 1902, and his Litt.D. degree from Wofford in 1917. Alice M. Baldwin, Dean of the Woman's College of Duke University, received her A.B. and M.A. degrees from Cornell University, and her Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago. Dean Baldwin came to Trinity College in 1924 as Dean of Women. She became the first Dean of the Woman's College of Duke University in 1930.

Herbert J. Herring, Dean of Men, is a graduate of Trinity College. After receiving his A.B. degree in 1922, he went to Columbia University, where, in 1929, he was awarded his M.A. in College Administration. He assumed the office of assistant dean in 1931 and in 1935 became Dean of Men.

Walter K. Greene, Dean of Curricula, was graduated from Wofford College in 1903. He received his M.A.degree from Vanderbilt University in 1905, and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard in 1921 and 1923. For eight years he was Dean at Wesleyan College, and in 1928 he came to Duke University as Professor of English. In 1930, Dr. Greene became Dean of Undergraduate Instruction.

Alan K. Manchester, Dean of Freshmen, first entered college at Southwestern University and received his A.B. degree from Vanderbilt in 1920. At Columbia University he received his Master's degree and later he earned his Ph.D. degree from Duke University. Dean Manchester first came to Duke in 1929 as instructor in History. In 1934 he became Dean of Freshmen.

Mrs. Ruth S. Smith, Assistant Dean of Women, received her A.B. degree from Agnes Scott College in 1912. Then going to Columbia University, she received her A.M. degree in 1927, and soon after became a member of the Duke University faculty.

Miss Mary G. Wilson graduated from Winthrop College, receiving her A.B. degree in 1921. She came to Duke as Acting Dean of Women in 1929, and in 1930 she became the Social Director of the new Woman's College.

DEPARTMENT OF BOTANY

Dr. Blomquist, B.S., Ph.D., head of the Botany Department, studied at the Pasteur Institute, in Paris, held a fellowship and became an instructor at the University of Chicago before he was elected to the Duke faculty in 1920. As an author, he contributes to the "Botanical Gazette," "Elisha Mitchel Journal," and "Botanical Abstracts," in addition to writing "The Liverworts of North Carolina" and "Grasses of North Carolina and Their Distribution," read before a meeting of the Botanical Society of America in 1932. Dr. Blomquist is a member of the following organizations: A.A.A.S., Botanical Society of America, American Association of Geneticists, Sullivati Moss Society, and is a Fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Blomquist

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

Dr. Paul M. Gross, head of the Department of Chemistry, came to Duke from Columbia University in 1919. He holds a B.S. from the College of the City of New York, and the A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia University. He is prominent in the field of chemistry, being a member of the American Chemical Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is also a member of the American Association of University Professors and Phi Lambda Upsilon. He has served as Director of Research for Liggett & Myers Research Foundation.

Gross

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS

Dr. W. H. Glasson, Dean of the Graduate School and head of the Department of Economics, first came to Duke University in 1902. Before his connection with this University, he had earned his Ph.B. at Cornell University and his Ph.D. at Columbia University. Dr. Glasson is the author of numerous books, among which is the "Pension System of the United States." He is widely known for his frequent magazine articles and addresses on economics.

Glasson

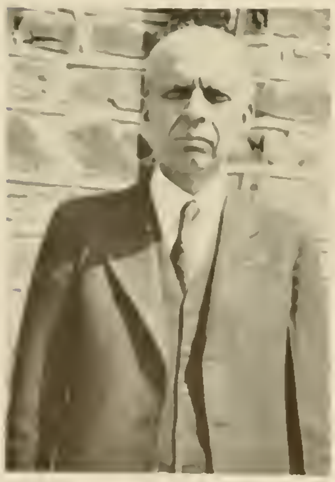
DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Dr. Holland Holton, head of the Department of Education and Dean of Summer Schools, is a graduate of Trinity College. A faculty member since 1912, he has written many articles for "North Carolina Education" and is a popular speaker at educational gatherings. Under the capable directorship of Dr. Holton, the Duke University Summer School has expanded enormously during the past few seasons. Editor of the Trinity "Alumni Register" for a number of years, Dr. Holton is a member of the following honorary organizations: Phi Beta Kappa, Tau Kappa Alpha, Kappa Delta Phi, Phi Delta Kappa, and the North Carolina Education Association.

Holton

DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

Dr. Laprade has been a professor of European and English history at Duke since 1909. Many historical and educational societies, including Phi Beta Kappa and the Royal Historical Society of England claim Dr. Laprade as a member. Author of "the best English history by an American," "British History for American Students," he is a frequent contributor to historical and political science reviews. He is a favorite of all audiences, and his nimble wit adds an informative interest to his courses.



Laprade

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY

Dr. William McDougal, head of the Department of Psychology, attended Cambridge University, England, from 1890-94, and there received the degrees of M.A. and Ph.B. He received the degree of M.B. from St. Thomas Hospital in 1898. His wide teaching experience, previous to his work at Duke University, includes four years at the University of London, twelve years at Oxford, and six years at Harvard. During the World War he held the commission of Major in the Royal Army Medical Corps. He is a Fellow of the Royal Society of London. His many works on physiological, social, and abnormal psychology have caused him to be considered one of the outstanding psychologists in the world today.

MacDougal

DEPARTMENT OF RELIGION

Myers

Professor H. E. Myers joined the faculty of Duke University in 1926 after a most successful series of pastorates. He is now Professor of Biblical Literature in the School of Religion. A graduate of Duke, class of 1915, Professor Myers received the degrees of S.T.B. and S.T.M. from the Boston University School of Theology, in the pastorate of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He has served a number of important charges, the last being the Duke Memorial Church of Durham.

DEPARTMENT OF ROMANCE LANGUAGES

Professor Albert M. Webb, head of the Romance Languages Department, has been a member of the Duke faculty since 1903. He holds the A.B. and A.M. degrees from Yale. Through the efforts of Professor Webb the department has risen to a position of prominence on the Duke Campus.

Webb

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

Ellwood

Dr. Charles A. Ellwood, head of the Sociology Department, has gained international fame in his field. After graduating from Cornell, Dr. Ellwood studied at the University of Chicago, University of Berlin, and the University of London. He holds degrees of Ph.B. and LL.D., and before coming to Duke, he held faculty positions at the University of Nebraska, Columbia, Chicago, University of Missouri, Colorado, Utah, and the University of Wisconsin. Since 1931, Dr. Ellwood has presided over Pi Gamma Mu. A prolific author, he has written many articles for "Encyclopedia Americana" in addition to his numerous texts. Dr. Ellwood was elected president of the International Association of Sociologists in 1934.

DEPARTMENT OF ZOOLOGY

Dr. George Thomas Hargitt, head of the Zoology Department, came to Duke in 1930 from Syracuse, where he was a professor of Zoology. He was, previous to that time, an instructor in the Zoology Department at Harvard. His degrees include an A.B. from Syracuse, an A.M. from the University of Nebraska, and a Ph.D. from Harvard. Dr. Hargitt is the co-author of the widely used text, "Outline of General Biology."

DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

Walter James Seeley, E.E., M.S., head of the Department of Electrical Engineering, has long been an outstanding figure in his field. During the World War, he gave his services to the United States in the capacity of electrical engineer in the submarine division. Since he has been connected with Duke, his untiring efforts have brought about numerous advances in the Department of Electrical Engineering, rapidly bringing it into widespread recognition.

DEPARTMENT OF FORESTRY

Clarence Ferdinand Korstian, head of the Department of Forestry, received his B.S.F. degree from the University of Nebraska in 1911, and his M.F. in 1913. In 1924 he obtained his M.A. from Southeastern Christian College. He was Research Fellow at Yale University, receiving his Ph.D. in 1936. He came to Duke in 1930 as Director of Duke Forest and Professor of Silviculture. He is a member of the executive council of the Society of American Foresters, was Chairman of the Appalachian Section of the Society in 1928, and has held several other positions of importance in the organization. Among the organizations of which he is a member are: the American Forestry Association, the North Carolina Academy of Science, the Ecological Society of America, the North Carolina Forestry Association, the Botanical Society of America, and the the American Society of Plant Physiologists.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

Dr. Frank C. Brown, head of the English Department and Comptroller of Duke University, came to Trinity College in 1909. He holds the A.B. degree from the University of Chicago. Dr. Brown is a former president of Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary fraternity, and is also a charter member of the chapter established at Duke University several years ago. As Comptroller of the University, he has been actively identified with the life of the institution and the community in various ways.

DEPARTMENT OF GREEK

Dr. Charles W. Peppler, head of the Greek Department in Duke University, received his A.B. and Ph.D. degrees at Johns Hopkins. He has studied at the University of Berlin and traveled extensively in Europe. Dr. Peppler came to Duke from Emory University in 1912. As well as being a contributor to such periodicals as "The American Journal of Philology," "Classical Philology," "Classical Weekly," and the "South Atlantic Quarterly," he is a member of the following organizations: American Philology Association, American Classical League, American Association of University Professors, and Phi Beta Kappa.

DEPARTMENT OF GERMAN

Dr. Clement Vollmer, head of the German Department of Duke University and one of the most popular speakers in the faculty, is widely known in academic circles. At Heidelberg College, in 1909, he received his Bachelor of Arts degree, and at the University of Pennsylvania, in 1914 and 1915, earned both the A.M. and Ph.D. degrees. Prior to his connection with Duke University, Dr. Vollmer taught at Cornell University and at the University of Pennsylvania. He is author of "The American Novel in Germany," and is widely recognized as an authority on German literature.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

William Whitfield Elliott, acting head of the Mathematics Department, received his A.B. degree from Hampden-Sidney College in 1918, his M.A. from the University of Kentucky the following year, and his Ph.D. from Cornell University in 1924. His teaching career began in 1919. He came to Duke from Yale, where he taught during the year 1924-25. Member of the American Mathematical Society, the Mathematical Association of America, the North Carolina Academy of Science, and Sigma Chi. He has been a constant contributor to many important mathematical journals.

Elliott

DEPARTMENT OF CIVIL AND MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

Harold C. Bird, head of the Department of Civil and Mechanical Engineering, received his Ph.B. degree from Yale in 1908, and his C.E. degree two years later from the same university. Before he came to Duke he had held an Assistantship in Sheffield Scientific School. Later, at Pennsylvania Military College, he held the successive positions of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Professor of Civil Engineering. That he is an outstanding figure in the world of engineering is evidenced by the fact that his name appears in "American Men of Science," "Who's Who in Engineering," and "Who's Who in Education."

DEPARTMENT OF PHILOSOPHY

Alban Gregory Widgery, head of the Department of Philosophy, received his M.A. from Cambridge University. He was Burney Student and Burney Prizeman at Cambridge, and has also studied at the Universities of Jena and Paris. During the year 1914-15, he was Instructor in Moral Philosophy at the University of St. Andrews. From 1915-22 he was head of the Department of Philosophy in Baroda College of the University of Bombay, and, from 1922-28, Stanton Lecturer in Philosophy in Cambridge. In the year 1929-30 he was Professor of Philosophy at Cornell, and came to Duke in 1930. He was President of the Baroda University Commission from 1926-28, and is, at present, Vice President of the American Theological Society.

Widgery

DEPARTMENT OF LATIN

Dr. Raymond R. Rosborough, head of the Latin Department, received his A.B. degree from John B. Stetson University in 1915, and his M.A. and his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania. He was C.R.B. Fellow at the University of Louvain in the year 1921-22, and Docteur en Philologie Classique. From 1922-24 he was a Fellow of the American Academy in Rome. After holding the position of Professor of Latin in the University of North Carolina in the year 1924-25 he came to Duke, where he has remained since, with the exception of a year spent as Visiting Professor at Cornell University.

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

Dr. Robert R. Wilson, departmental head in Political Science and graduate of Austin College, received his M.A. degree from Princeton and his Ph.D. from Harvard. He was registrar of Austin College until 1925, when he came to Duke. Extremely successful as a teacher, Dr. Wilson has carried on extensive research into various subjects in his field. He follows closely the state of world affairs and centers his interests on international law.

MEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Zack Thomas
President

Experience has shown that the best method in which to handle student problems and to gain harmony throughout the student body is through the students themselves. This was the fundamental purpose for the organization of a system of Student Government at Duke University in 1922.

Over the span of fourteen years, this organization has grown and prospered until today we feel proud to say that we have a form of government in which student participation has been a great benefit.

But the supervision of various problems among the student body is not the sole function of the Student Council. The purpose and aim of the Student Government Association as stated in our constitution is "to create an effective organization for administrating student self-government, to support athletics, to foster literary endeavor, to encourage all other worthy student activities, and to promote the best interests of the University and the student body." Yearly, the Student Council takes part in the orientation of freshmen. Enthusiastic work has been done to create a series of lectures and other literary entertainment.

In the fall of the year the freshmen were feted at a Student Government Freshman Dance, made possible through the cooperation of the Men's and Women's Student Councils. Later in the fall semester the annual Victory Ball was enjoyed by the entire undergraduate membership. In the line of social activities for the members of the Student Government, this year's Student Council has initiated a new idea and one which has proven to be very satisfactory; namely, that of presenting a series of dances, the music being furnished by a nationally known orchestra.

Council in Session

The Student Government Association of Duke University has not confined its workings to matters of local interest. Since 1930 it has been a member of the National Student Federation of America. From time to time our representatives have held offices in this national organization. Duke University was one of the first to help establish the North Carolina Federation of Students, which has been declared the most powerful body of its kind.

The Student Council of 1935-36 has found it necessary to make several inevitable changes in the rules and by-laws of this organization. The former system of a House of Representatives has been disbanded and replaced by a more strict system which has shown itself to be more efficient. The Engineers' Council has been given a non-voting representative at the weekly trials. Minor rules of the constitution have been changed at various times when the need for more proper legislation has arisen.

As Duke University has grown in size and position, so has the organization of the Men's Student Government Association grown in importance. Splendid cooperation between this body and the administrative officials has gained for this group a just solution for any problems that have arisen before it.

Thus the purposes of this department are many in number, serving a vital need in University life.

WOMEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Annie Laurie Newsom
President

The foremost aim of the Women's Student Council this year has been centered around the welfare of three varied yet similar groups: the University, the Woman's College, and the Individual, working on the principle that our college life and its problems are comparable in its own setting to the life and problems of the citizens of his nation, state, and individual affairs.

No action was taken and no decision was reached before reflection was made as to the possible good or bad effects on the University as a whole, the Woman's College as a group, and the student as an individual. Although the Student Council was necessarily concerned with the welfare of the group as a whole, it has striven to give the highest possible amount of attention to the happiness of each individual student. With the recognition that every woman student is a part of a larger organization, the Council endeavored to cooperate with the Men's Association and with the staff and administrative body of the entire University.

Though revering custom and tradition, the Council took nothing for granted and was ever conscious of the constant need for studying and testing all phases of life with which the women were confronted. Where change was needed, change was advocated; where custom and tradition were the sounder, custom and tradition were upheld. Progressiveness with rational progress was the aim.

The Council tried to focus its attention and energy not on one particular phase of life, but on the intellectual, social and extra-curricula activities. By the use of various methods it endeavored to stimulate student interest and social responsibility, to solicit student opinion on various problems, and to keep in touch with the trend of affairs and questions with which other college and university students were concerned. In short, the policy of this year's council has been generally neither radical nor conservative, but an attempted policy of identification with the highest and best in every situation.

presided over by the president of the Woman's College Government, is a Judicial Board, presided over by the vice president. This body deals with major offenses and matters referred to it by the Executive Body, and is composed of the president, the recording secretary, the house presidents, and a member-at-large.

While there are a few automatic penalties for various offenses, and while the board endeavors to hand down judgments as uniform as possible, each offense is carefully studied and considered from all angles with the aim of arriving at a penalty which will prove of the most benefit and aid to the individual.

In 1934-1935, the first Student Forum Committee was organized and has been continued with the following purposes: to lead group discussions among the students, to gauge student opinion, and to act as an intermediary group between the Student Council, the administration, and the student body at large. One of its most beneficial and primary functions is to plan a series of lectures for the women students, financed by the women students.

SOCIAL STANDARDS COMMITTEE

Mary Frances Ivey
Chairman

The committee on Social Standards is composed of women selected from the student body at large on a consideration of social leadership by the Chairman and the Social Director. As representatives of the social sororities, classes and various student groups, the members have as their objective the guidance and regulation of social activities of the Woman's College. This goal implies encouragement toward the development of a fine social relationship among the students of both campuses.

Because of the varied environments from which students come to Duke, an adjustment to college life must be accomplished, and the Social Standards Committee functions in this process. It is this body which first introduces freshmen women into the social life of the university. During Freshman Week at the beginning of the 1935-36 year, a series of tea dances in the Ark was sponsored by the committee with the purpose of facilitating introduction to the Duke men. One of the major accomplishments of the group is the sponsoring of the traditional Co-ed Balls, which are given in the fall and spring of each year.

Prior to this year, the committee assumed part of the responsibility for the Ark with Sandals, honorary sophomore organization. This year Social Standards has, however, initiated a new project in the Woman's College Union. Efforts have been made to improve the appearance of the lobby by adding and rearranging the furnishings, and the building has also been opened for dating.

The Social Standards Committee was organized in 1930, when the Woman's College was opened. The Chairman, who is elected by the members of the Women's Student Government Association and who is a member of the Student Council, is a medium between the students and the governing body. Since the establishment of the committee, the following women have served as Chairman: Edith Parker, 1927-28; Courtney Sharpe, 1930-31; Leonore Murphy, 1931-32; Carlotta Waters, 1932-33; Helen Wyatt, 1933-34; Eleanor Tompkins, 1934-35; and Mary Frances Ivey, 1935-36.

SENIORS

MEN'S SENIOR CLASS

HISTORY

We, the Class of 1936, watch the approach of June the eighth with a confused feeling of anticipation and dread. We are happy at the prospect of having completed four years of training, of culture, and of profitable experiences which have prepared us, in some measure at least, for what lies beyond.

We rejoice at the thought of graduation into that higher university of Life for which we have been preparing ourselves, and yet we dread the moment that will mean a breaking away from the old manner of living, a rupture of the friendships and associations that have come to mean so much. Surely, no matter where we go, no matter what conditions may confront us "out there," we shall never forget this school, its meaning to us, its association into a part of our very selves. We hope it will not forget us.

The Class of 1936, coincident with its own mental and cultural growth over a four-year period, has witnessed and taken an active participation in many of the changes incidental to the growth of Duke University. During the session of 1933-1934 there occurred drastic changes in freshman rushing rules, including a minimum scholastic average of "C" as prerequisite to eligibility, postponement of rush week until the second semester, and housing of the freshman class as a unit in a single group of dormitories.

We have seen Duke rise into national prominence in its athletic activities, perhaps best exemplified by the immortal eleven of 1933 which came so near to the attainment of a perfect schedule of vistories. Each year of our residence has witnessed an increase in student enrollment over that of the preceding term until further expansion of dormitory facilities has become a necessity.

Frank Sizemore
President

Perhaps the greatest single thrill of our four years happened one rainy sixteenth of November, an event so great that this year might well be called "The Year 25-0."

As a class we have striven to establish a closer cooperation between ourselves and our classmates of the East. With them we have presented to our school a memorial gift of a planting of oaks between the campuses.

And so it goes, another June approaching and another class graduating. Just "another class?" We hope not. We cannot fully appreciate the untold good our Alma Mater has given to us until maturity brings a deeper wisdom.

HISTORY

Another Senior Class takes its place in the annals of Duke University history as the class of 1936 steps over the threshold of undergraduate life into the ranks of alumnae.

The growth and development of the University has been so rapid that the students themselves have felt the tremendous pressure. It has been a problem to successfully deal with this rapid expansion, which is one of the challenges the Class of 1936 has competently met. Instead of becoming a disintegrated group of students within the complexities of our modern University life, the classes of the Woman's College and Trinity College have become more closely united than ever before. In scholastic endeavor, in organizations, and in social life their purposes have been closely related, and they have achieved together rather than separately.

The oak trees along the University drive between the campuses were planted by the Seniors of the Woman's College and Trinity College symbolizing a permanent and lasting cooperative spirit of the women and men of Duke University.

The painting of the portrait of Dean Alice M. Baldwin, a project begun by the class of 1935, has been completed by the Senior women with the helpful cooperation of the underclassmen.

Under the auspices of this class, the President's Club has been organized, with the President of the Senior Class as permanent chairman.

In the field of athletics this group has excelled. The athletic banner has displayed the numerals "'36" for the past two years.

The oaks planted are still young saplings and our only regret is that we cannot remain to see them grow into trees. Like them, we are still "young twigs," nurtured on the Duke Campus. But the achievements of the Class of '36 will flourish and grow in a larger world.

DUKE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF NURSING

The Duke University School of Nursing was established in nineteen twenty-five in connection with the School of Medicine of the University. The first class was enrolled in nineteen-thirty.

The plan of the School is to give a sound basis course in Nursing Education which will prepare young women to give intelligent nursing care to the sick in hospitals and homes of the community, as well as an introduction to the problems of community health and preventive medicine. Two courses are offered: the Three-Year Basic Course leading to a diploma in nursing, and the Five-Year Course granting a degree of Bachelor of Science in nursing.

There has been a steady growth in the enrollment of the School, and each year shows a wider distribution of states represented. The students who have graduated have either gone on to further study, or entered some of the various fields of nursing, such as Institutional, Private Duty, or Public Health Nursing.

Since nineteen-thirty the Diploma in Nursing has been conferred upon fifty-five persons. Sixteen will graduate this year.

THE SCENIC CAROLINA EDITION OF THE DUKE CHANTICLEER

Book Three

FEATURES

WEIRD . . . silent . . . still as death, except for the occasional flutter of a bird, or the gentle rustling of gray moss that hangs from the giant limbs of century-old cypresses and oaks . . . the dismal swamps of North Carolina provide an enchantment and beauty that eludes description.

THE ARCHIVE

EDITORIAL STAFF

Since its birth some decades ago, the Archive has been the primary medium for printing the creative writing of Duke University undergraduates. Under several editors there existed the policy of printing the work of outside writers, but during the past three years the pages of the magazine have been devoted entirely to the writings of campus men and women.

Three years ago the Archive was metamorphosed from a plain booklet to a magazine approaching its present characteristics. The editorial staff for the past year has endeavored to collect the best student writing and to print it attractively; thus lending its mite of aid to the gradual metamorphosis.

One of the most violent yowls against the Archive has for years been the quality of the fiction. During the 1935-36 scholastic year, we have attempted to find a solution to the evil. It remains for the campus itself to prove that there are enough sincere writers at Duke—enough writers who can add their essential morsels to the potage and prove that Duke deserves its appellation, University.

For a final word, we do say that we've seen quite an increase in the Archive readers. Four years ago the monthly distribution was followed by miniature paper storms in every dormitory. To illustrate the increase in popularity, we proudly divulge that the perenial playboy, Joe College, was caught reading this year's March and April issues.

BUSINESS STAFF

This year's Archive business staff has completed what it believes has been a very successful task. Together with the Co-ed business staff, it has solicited more national and local advertising than any previous Archive. This good fortune has made it possible to set up a larger budget than in former years, thus appropriating a rather large amount to the publication of what the staff feels and earnestly hopes has been a better Archive. We feel that these increased expenditures, such as funds for varied covers, engravings, and photographs of Duke University and other points of interest, have not been foolishly squandered if the students have derived increased satisfaction as a result.

This year, there has been closer cooperation between the business and editorial staffs. Contributions have been entered from both campuses, resulting from encouragement and a greater chance for advancement of those men and women who wish to try out for staff positions and who are interested in the business world. However, we feel that much credit should go to the Co-ed business staff, which has completed an enormous amount of work, and without whose help a successful task could not have been accomplished.

The Archive, after a successful business year, looks forward to the rise in prestige of the publication in the future.

THE DUKE CHRONICLE

EDITORIAL STAFF

Everett Perine
Editor

The 1935-36 staff of the Duke Chronicle has attempted to perpetuate certain high standards of journalistic endeavor which have characterized the paper throughout its thirty years of existence. In so doing, the staff has found it necessary to make several innovations adopted for the purpose of developing the Chronicle on the basis of modern newspaper efficiency. The benefits of the change from a weekly to as semi-weekly publication a switch which was made a year ago—were realized during the present season. The organization of the staff into two groups, separated to ease the burden of an ever-increasing amount of work, has been done successfully. These groups have worked under common leadership, and have maintained a high standard throughout the year.

The editorial columns have been marked by a tone of definite conviction. At the same time, they have been rather conservative and have successfully brought rewards through their influence. The same columns purposely have reflected a balanced view which has not unduly offended any particular group. An attempt has been made through the medium of the editorial page to make the Duke Chronicle an organ of student opinion through which the student body may express, without reservation, their candid observations on any and all subjects pertaining to general or specific problems of University life.

Defects still remain and room for improvement may be plainly seen, but the present staff feels itself justified in believing that it has contributed toward creating a true center of enlightenment and education at Duke University. This has been the aim of the staff of 1935-1936. It is hoped that future staffs will be guided by the same ultimate goal.

THE DUKE CHRONICLE

BUSINESS STAFF

The success of the 1935-1936 Chronicle, as a business venture, has been largely due to the conscientious efforts of the entire business staff. The fine cooperation of the members of the staff has resulted in less work for everyone concerned and more advertising than during previous years. The paper was published under great difficulty during the first semester because of a decrease in local advertising; local advertising, however, was greatly increased through the fine efforts on the part of this staff. The organization of the business branch has undergone a radical change which has given a larger number of individuals more responsibility. This action has aroused a keener interest and a greater feeling of personal importance in the work, essential to the cooperation and ultimate success of the entire group.

Even before the fall semester began, a concentrated campaign had been launched by the subscription manager resulting in an increased circulation of over thirty-six hundred copies. The fine work of the advertising manager has already been mentioned. The office manager performed his duties of accounting, billing, and collecting in an efficient manner. The circulation manager, in charge of the freshman staff, has overcome the handicap of inexperienced men and has satisfactorily accomplished his task. A great deal of credit must be given the Co-ed business manager who has established a precedent by maintaining a large and active Co-ed staff, which has proven to be a valuable asset.

The entire staff hopes that it has succeeded in its sincere endeavor to publish a paper worthy of Duke University.

THE CHANTICLEER

EDITORIAL STAFF

In presenting this, the twenty-third volume of the CHANTICLEER, the staff hopes that it has succeeded in its purpose, which has been to present a yearbook that will serve as a treasured memoir of student days at Duke long after those times are past—a pictorial chronicle of a year's names, faces, and events to be enjoyed now and in the future. It is for the seniors, especially, that we have prepared this 1936 CHANTICLEER, that the memories of their joys and sorrows, their friends, their work here might go through life with them.

How well the staff has achieved its ideals the readers will have to judge. Although discouraging moments have arisen, during which we have felt unable to cope with the problems at hand, we hope that this final result of our labors will be acceptable.

Besides the number of faculty and students who have aided us, the staff wishes to gratefully acknowledge the valuable assistance of: "Bill" Bradley, of the Photo-Process Engraving Company, Atlanta; Joe Hardison, Edwards & Broughton Company, Raleigh; H. A. Siddell, Siddell Studio, Raleigh; and D. R. Mann, photographer for the "Durham Herald-Sun," Durham.

THE CHANTICLEER

BUSINESS STAFF

The task of the business staff of the CHANTICLEER is one that may make many of the members unpopular at times, involving as it does the necessity of collecting money from students, but it has been the aim of this year's staff to make it possible for the student to have an excellent yearbook, comparable or superior to the 1935 volume, which was awarded the coveted All-American Honor Rating, and at the same time to reduce substantially the fees paid by the seniors, while making no increase in the fees paid by underclassmen.

Another criticism which it is hoped will be averted this year is the shortage of copies of the book which occurred last year, and to a lesser extent the year before. This year almost 2,500 copies of the CHANTICLEER are being printed, and it should be possible for all students to obtain copies of the 1936 edition.

The business staff is justly proud of the amount of both local and national advertising which it has obtained this year. It is deeply grateful to the firms and persons who have helped to make the publication of the yearbook a financial success. The staff urges the readers of the CHANTICLEER to give consideration to those business firms who advertise in this book, and takes pleasure in recommending their products and services.

ALL AMERICAN CHANTICLEER

The 1935 CHANTICLEER, first Duke University yearbook ever to be entered in competition, received the All-American Honor Rating.

Annually, for the past fifteen years, the National Scholastic Press Association, at the University of Minnesota, has conducted a Critical Service, before which have come fifteen thousand college and university yearbooks for judgment. The judges, after careful consideration of theme, make-up, editing, financial status, and mechanical considerations, award a rating to each book according to its relative excellence. These ratings are: All-American, First Class, Second Class, and Third Class Honor Ratings. Fourth Class books receive no honors.

Last year's CHANTICLEER, entered in the class of colleges having an enrollment of less than twenty-five hundred students, distinguished itself, along with the yearbooks of the United States Military Academy and the United States Naval Academy, by being awarded highest honors.

It is with much pride that we of the staff of the 1936 CHANTICLEER advance our book as representative of the work of Duke University students, hoping that this newest edition of the CHANTICLEER is of the same high calibre as the preceeding ones.

DUKE PLAYERS

Charles McCallister
President

With the largest associate membership of their history to encourage them, the Duke Players have enjoyed a most successful season. The group is organized and maintained by the students themselves and serves to direct the interest in drama on both the East and West campuses.

The program for this, their fifth year, has included a balanced selection of four major productions. "The Torchbearers," the popular comedy whose clever, brilliant humor lifted its author, George Kelly, to theatrical fame more than a decade ago, was the initial offering. An attractive set, designed and executed by George E. White, Jr., made the presentation pretentious as well as entertaining. The Duke Players point with especial pride to their second production, "Ceiling Zero," by Frank Wead. Through early arrangements with the publishers they were able to secure a professional manuscript, make their own copies and produce the amateur premier of this melodrama of the airway industry which has since appeared as a successful movie attraction. Sound effects were imported from New York, and special equipment and professional advice were secured from the Federal Airlines at Raleigh, N. C., in order to make the presentation as technically colorful as possible.

A dramatic favorite of the American and London stage, "A Bill of Divorcement," was the third. Intense study and rehearsals were necessary in handling this work because of its difficult but very effective dramatic sequences. A. T. West, director of the Players, was included in the cast of this performance which was enthusiastically received by the University's theatre-going public. Plans for the May Day presentation were made indefinite by the receipt of information which cancelled preparations for a revival of the old favorite, "After Dark, or Neither Maid, Wife, nor Widow." Several substitutes were to be considered, including "Ladies of the Jury" and the two melodramatic masterpieces of the old time temperance variety, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" and "The Drunkard."

These productions are manifestations of the work that is carried on within the Duke Players' organization. Meetings which are held every other week during the school year and to which those interested in the theatre are invited, have become very popular. At these meetings one-act plays are presented under student direction and management offering an opportunity for experience in the various phases of play production. Members of Theta Alpha Phi, the national honorary dramatic fraternity, offer their services by way of helpful suggestions to the inexperienced actors and by conducting classes in scenery designing, construction, and make-up.

Theta Alpha Phi conducted a one-act playwriting contest this year in an endeavor to stimulate interest in that field of drama. The response by the students was very gratifying to the organization and plans were made for producing the best of the plays for the entertainment of the University community, a cash prize to be awarded the author of the play most enthusiastically received. In addition to their amateur productions, the Duke Players sponsored the appearance in Durham of the Federal Theatre's performance of the new historical drama of the South, "Jefferson Davis."

The future of the Duke Players appears to be promising, for this year's freshman class has shown an exceptional interest in the work of the organization. Elementary plans for next year have already been discussed in order that the new season might offer a wider variety of activities for a greater number of students.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Zack Thomas
President

The Men's Glee Club is fast becoming one of the most prominent organizations in the field of student activities at the University. The program for this year has shown considerable expansion over that of last year. Starting the 1935-36 season with many of last year's accomplished singers, the squad was closely contested in all departments. Upon close examination one finds that even the seasoned veterans were hard pushed and often replaced by fresh talent.

During the month of January, the Duke University Musical Club, composed of Glee Club and Orchestra, gave a concert in Farmville, Virginia. A similar trip was carried out in the spring, its itinerary including the major cities in North Carolina. Under the capable leadership of J. Foster Barnes these trips have proven a success both to the club itself and to the school which it represents. The newspaper comments were quite favorable and the critics unanimous in their praise of the balanced strength of the Club The Glee Club has also shared, in cooperation with other musical units of the college, in the annual spring production of a musical comedy.

MEMBERS

The Glee Club is composed of the following members: Heyward Henderson, Ernest Winton, J. D. Klock, George Davis, Dick Newens, Don Schmitt, Miles Gayle, H. Winterson, W. Mason, Ellis Andrews John Cole, Joe Mackie, Fulton Main, Al Preyer, R. E. Kay, Charles Hooten, Donald Hirst, Tom Windsor, C. Finefrock, Jack Barkle, J. P. Women's Glee Club

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

As the Women's College of Duke University has expanded, the Women's Glee Club has increased proportionately. At the present time the group consists of over a hundred members under the capable direction of Mrs. J. Foster Barnes.

For the past several years, the Glee Club has appeared in a musical concert on the East campus, and each spring has joined the Men's Glee Club in presenting an operetta in Page Auditorium. The Women's Glee Club is also important in the Chapel Choir, which furnishes music for the Sunday services.

The formation of this club has given women a chance to apply their musical talents and to progress accordingly with the growth of the musical organizations on the men's campus. It is hard to carry out a well-rounded education without devoting a substantial proportion of one's time to the study of music and participation in various phases of the field of music. Today, as in the past, it adds color to work and play, besides playing an ever more important role in culture and recreation.

KAPPA KAPPA PSI

Robert P. Miller
President

Kappa Kappa Psi was founded at Oklahoma State College in the fall of 1919, with the purpose of recognizing college musicians of outstanding ability and, by their fraternal efforts, to foster greater and finer band music. During the seventeen years of its existence, the fraternity has enlisted thirty-three chapters, and its roster of membership includes some of the world's outstanding bandmen, such as the late John Philip Sousa, Henry Fillmore, Captain Taylor Branson, and William J. Stannard.

The Duke chapter, Alpha Gamma, was established on the campus in 1929. G. E. Leftwich, Jr., was the first president of the chapter and began its initial progress here; in 1933 Mr. Leftwich was named Vice President of the National Grand Chapter. This year Joseph S. Hiatt, Jr., was elected President of the Southern District at the National Biennial Convention of the fraternity.

Through the activity of the fraternity in cooperation with Director Robert B. Fearing, the Duke University Band this year has made definite progress toward the development of a greater and bigger unit than ever before. In collaboration with the administration of the University, the fraternity sponsored the plan whereby eligible members of the Band will be awarded keys for their service; likewise, Kappa Kappa Psi has been the active organ in procuring new instruments and uniforms for the Band in the forthcoming year.

ATHLETICS

Coach Wallace Wade

DEPARTMENT OF

Leading the South in its recent rise to athletic equality with the other sections of the country, Duke University's athletic teams have, in the past five years, come into the national limelight through outstanding performances. So rapid has been the rise of Duke in the athletic circles of the country that it is now ranked as one of the foremost in this section. In the belief that a strong athletic program is an integral part of a well-balanced educational program, the administration made adequate arrangements, a few years ago, to make the Duke department as strong as any in the South. The administration's initial step toward this goal was selecting Wallace Wade as director of athletics at Duke.

Coach Wade, who is ranked as one of the foremost football mentors of the country, is a firm believer in athletics for everyone and, in an effort to give every student an opportunity to develop physically as well as mentally, brought to Duke Kenneth Gerard to develop a system of intramural athletics. The growth of this department under the guidance of Coach Gerard has been remarkable and it now ranks on a par with that of other great colleges of the country. In addition to the varsity and intramural teams, "All-American" and junior varsity squads have been formed in the various sports to give those who do not have the ability for regular varsity competition opportunity to enjoy athletic contests. The junior varsity teams, the first of their kind in the state, play regular schedules with smaller colleges.

On the gridiron the fame of Duke University and its Blue Devil teams has spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts, from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, and the great 25-0 victory over Coach Carl Snavely's 1935 Rose-Bowl-bound University of North Carolina football eleven left no doubt that Duke well deserved the honors. In a game which found 47,000 fans feasting their eyes on the great annual classic, Duke rose to the greatest heights ever attained by a Blue Devil team.

Ever since Eddie Cameron took charge of basketball at Duke, the Blue Devil cage teams have enjoyed successful seasons. The Duke teams have not only been sectionally prominent but by their conquests of powerful non-sectional foes have won national repute. Again and again have Coach Cameron's men invaded other sections to register enviable records.

Under the capable leadership of Jack Coombs, one of the greatest all-time pitchers in the diamond history, baseball has become a tradition through its fine teams and the number of players who every year have gone into the major leagues to make their marks. Duke's most recent contributions to the major leagues of the country have been Ty Wagner, captain of Duke's 1935 team who is now associated with the Albany nine, and Lovill (Chubby) Dean, of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Track likewise has produced outstanding performers at Duke. The annual Southern Conference meet staged at Duke has become one of the sport's most interesting spectacles. The winning of the conference indoor meet and the possibilities for a great out door season point to the best track season ever enjoyed at Duke.

Minor sports are not neglected and with competent coaches at their helms have become very popular with the fans and the students. The outstanding minor sport at Duke is boxing. Under the direction of Add Warren, a former ring great, boxing has been advancing so rapidly that it has won tremendous popularity and interest on a par with that enjoyed by the major sports. During the past season the Duke gym was filled to capacity every time the Blue Devil leather-pushers were found performing at home.

Although working under many handicaps Jack Persons has always produced swimming teams which rank high in the conference. Wrestling also comes in for its share of interest and attention. Strong teams in tennis and golf have advanced the athletic name of Duke University through the South and other sections of the country. Every year Duke produces golf and tennis players who win national recognition. Several stellar players have gone on after graduation to make themselves and their school famous. The cross-country team has also done notable work. The latest Duke hill and dale team won the conference meet and scored impressive victories over conference and non-conference opponents.

At Duke, athletics are destined for a greater part in college life, and the great progress made along this line has been encouraging, indicating that this branch of endeavor will take prominent part in the future growth of the University.

Duke 25—Carolina 0

The 1935 grid season was one of the best in the history of the institution . . . under the capable mentorship of Wallace Wade . . . the Blue Devils annexed eight victories . . . INCLUDED IN WHICH WAS THE CRUSHING 25-0 TRIUMPH OVER CAROLINA'S TAR HEELS . . . to win the North Carolina BIG FIVE . . . and the SOUTHERN CONFERENCE gridiron crowns . . . their lone defeats of the season were the one-touchdown setback by Georgia Tech and Auburn. . . . On the Blue Devil victory string hung the scalps of Washington and Lee . . . Clemson . . . North Carolina State . . . Wake Forest . . . Davidson . . . Tennessee . . . South Carolina . . . and North Carolina.

There were many highlights in these gruelling contests . . . but the spectacular 90-yard touchdown snake-hipping of Jack Alexander in the Carolina-Duke classic . . . after having intercepted Jackson's heave . . . was without a doubt the most eye-catching . . . and pulse-quickening of the season . . . which saw Duke University regaining the laurels worn in 1933.

Curtain Raiser

Under the glaring mazdas of War Memorial stadium . . . at Greensboro . . . Duke University's Blue Devils cracked their 1935 football campaign wide open with a 26-7 victory over a . . . gritty but powerless Wake Forest eleven. . . . It took the Devils the better part of three cantos to get going . . . but led by Ace (Clarence) Parker . . . who raced across the Deamon Deac final chalk-line on three occasions . . . and Silver (Harwood) Smith . . . the latest thing in Wade machines left the Deacs crumpled by the wayside. . . . First Big Five triumph! . . . The lone six-pointer of the enemy came in the final period via Morris.

Track Meet

A highly-touted South Carolina team came . . . saw . . . and was conquered . . . 47-0. . . . The inexhaustable Duke powerhouse attack left the visitors stunned . . . and sent them back to the Gamecock State still wondering if it was a hurricane they had encountered. . . . The Dukes rolled up seven touchdowns in rapid succession that featured

Duke Takes Richmond

The undefeated Duke team journeyed to Richmond and completely outclassed a giant General team of Washington and Lee. . . . Last year's Southern Conference champs were no match for the Blue Devils in kicking, passing, and toting the pigskin. . . . The result, a 26-0 verdict for the Durham aggregation. . . . The Wade forward wall showed stone-wall qualities in holding the Generals to downs after Parker's punt had been blocked in the hot zone . . . the Duke 15. . . . Features of the conflict in Richmond were: the high brand of ball which two Virginia boys . . . Ace Parker, of Norfolk, . . . and Jule Ward, of Galax . . . put on display to thrill fellow-Virginians and a band of Duke-zealots who had trekked to the Old Dominion capital . . . and a 40-yard heave, Parker to Ward, put the Dukes in a scoring position . . . with Parker making the grade from the 16 . . . Harwood Smith thrilled the crowd with a 50-yard dash which was called back. . . . A 58-yard touchdown jaunt by the tow-headed Ward rang up the last score of Duke's first major Southern Conference clash.

"Ace" is "Ace" and West Is West

A great Duke end answering to the name of Ed West shone with brilliance in Duke's next conference tilt . . . the 38-12 victory over Clemson . . . when he grabbed Troutman's punt . . . and wiggled 67 yards through a pack of Tigers to register. . . . Honey Hackney accounted for the second long scoring run of the game . . . a 59-yard march. . . . Folger and Pennington each contributed to the Tiger score from around the Duke two-yard mark. . . . NEXT STOP, Georgia Tech! ! !

The Old Jinx

As in the great 1933 season . . . the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech proved the undoing of the Blue Devils. . . . The "jinx" came through and lateraled itself to a 6-0 victory over the visiting Blue Devils. . . . The score at the half was 0-0 . . . Honey Hackney replaced Ace Parker . . . who was nursing an injury . . . in the third canto. . . . Tech got its "break" when a terrific tackle by Jones caused Hackney to fumble on the Duke 25 . . . Jones recovered and with triple and quadruple laterals . . . that amazed the visiting Dukes . . . marched across the Devil goal line . . . 6-0 (the same score as in 1933).

Plainsmen Slay

After the heartbreaking loss on the foreign field of Georgia . . . the Devils returned home grimly determined to again court Lady Victory . . . but the Plainsmen of Auburn had their own ideas . . . and eked out a 7-0 win as ever-surging Gantt blocked one of Ace's punts with Williams scooping the bounding ball for the lone tally of the game . . . the giant boot of the Auburn tackle, Paterson, helped to harness the Dukes. . . . For three quarters bodies swayed back and forth with the exchange of the ball . . . deadly blocking . . . powerful line plunges . . . from

Homecoming

Two losses behind them and the HOMECOMING fracas with the crack Tennessee eleven next on the card . . . the picture looked black for the Devil gridders. . . . But Durham's own Elmore Hackney hacked and zoomed his way through a stern Vol team to wear the garland. . . . The score tied at the half . . . 6 to 6 . . . Hackney netted 47 yards on three plays to give the onlookers something to look at . . . and repeated his touchdown spree in the final period . . . Elmore literally gave the game to the Dukes, 19-6. HOPES ROSE AGAIN AT THE APPROACH OF THE DUKE-CAROLINA CLASSIC!

Duke, 25—Carolina, 0

Then came the annual Duke-Carolina classic . . . amid a steady drizzle . . . 47,000 zealous football fans watched a perfectly oiled and timed WADE machine smash Carolina's "Rose Bowl" hopes . . . 25-0 . . . even Jupiter Pluvius smiled at times as the Wade legion completely out-classed the supposedly invulnerable Tar Heels. . . . There were many heroes that day . . . thirteen of them: Jack Alexander . . . Clarence Parker . . . Jule Ward . . . Ed West . . . Jack Hennemier . . . Gus Durner . . . Elmore Hackney . . . Sam Gardner . . . Sam McCaskill . . . Joe Brunansky . . . Captain Jim Johnston . . . Joe Cardwell . . . and Dick Taliaferro. . . . As befitting a great All-American prospect . . . Ace Parker set the stage for the first Duke touchdown . . . in the second quarter, Jule Ward, on a reverse, hot-footed it 47 yards to hang up the precious six-pointer. . . . A jam through center by Jack Alexander . . . in the third stanza . . . boosted the Duke score to 13. . . . In the final quarter occurred the play which electrified the crowd and had the sports scribes taking the silencers off their pencils . . . Jack Alexander intercepted Don Jackson's toss and, with his mates giving him perfect interference, ran 90 yards to score . . . Parker followed with a 30-yard touchdown parade to ring the curtain down on one of the greatest gridiron games of the year in the collegiate circles of the country. . . . Long after the pages of this book have turned to brown . . . the 1935 Duke gridiron season shall be referred to as DUKE, 25—CAROLINA, 0.

Curtain Falls

In a post-climax to the brilliant 1935 grid season . . . the Blue Devils eked out a 7-0 win over Hunk Anderson's North Carolina State footballers, with it annexing the Big Five and Southern Conference crowns. . . . The only score of the otherwise slow game: Jack Hennemier intercepted Berlinski's pass on the State 41 for Duke . . . and Ace Parker cut through left tackle for the lone score . . . Sam Gardner kicked the extra point. . . . The Wolfpack again and again stormed at the Blue Devil goal zone only to find the Wade defense impossible to crack.

On the Honor Rolls

The conclusion of the 1935 grid season saw Duke's mighty quarterback, Clarence (Ace) Parker, being named on practically all All-American selections. . . . In addition Parker was unanimously awarded the quarterback position on the Southern Conference team. . . . On the first team . . . besides Parker . . . Gus Durner, tackle . . . Captain Jim Johnston, guard; . . . second team: Ed West, end . . . Jule Ward, back; . . . third team: Jack Hennemier, center . . . Joe Cardwell, tackle . . . Jack Alexander, fullback; . . . honorable mention: Joe Brunansky, tackle . . . Elmore Hackney, back.

B Team

In the first year of its organization . . . the B team . . . which gives men a chance to play competitive football who might not otherwise see action . . . won its spurs. . . . Its season shows four losses and a single victory. . . . In the opener, Lenoir Rhyne rolled over the B team 9 to 6 . . . but the Seconds would not be denied . . . and won a game that resembled a track meet . . . from Campbell College . . . 39 to 0. . . . Elon proved too much for them, however, and they went down 13-0. . . . They lost to Oak Ridge, 13-0 . . . and Navy B team, 18-0.

Johnny Johnson was outstanding throughout the season . . . accounting for three touchdowns against Campbell College . . . and Hal Stephens turned in nice playing in the backfield. . . . To Coaches "Shipwreck" Kelley . . . and Earle Wentz . . . go our congratulations.

Sports Stars

None of the Duke 1935-36 athletic teams . . . had a better start than Coach Eddie Cameron's Blue Devil cage team. . . . With only two regulars back from the crack 1934-35 team . . . the Duke mentor moulded a team which scored a string of thirteen consecutive victories before being defeated. . . . Taking all things into consideration . . . Duke had a very successful basketball season . . . the Blue Devil floor team scoring twenty wins in twenty-five starts. . . .

Some of the outstanding cage teams of the country . . . which fell before Duke were . . . North Carolina . . . Yale . . . Army . . . Catholic U. . . . Princeton . . . University of Richmond . . . and . . . Baltimore University. . . .

Satellites

During the hard campaign, the playing of the following Blue Devil cagers was notable . . . Captain Charlie Kunkle . . . who was second high-scorer of the team . . . Billy Huiskamp . . . given honorable Southern Conference tourney mention . . . Ken Podger . . . high scorer and tourney choice . . . Fred Edwards . . . sophomore forward . . . Bud Herrick . . . Clarence Parker . . . Duke's famed All-American footballer of the 1935 season . . . Joe Riley . . . Duke's flashy basketeer . . . and Johnny Hoffman.

Duke opened its 1935-36 campaign with an impressive 39-36 win over the strong Catholic University five and on the following night defeated Baltimore U. 49-29 . . . before laying off for the Christmas vacations. . . . With the resuming of school, the Blue Devils topped the Elon College quintet, 58-42. . . . The next night in the Duke gym, a visiting Eli team of Yale University was able to give Coach Cameron's boys little more than a practise session . . . as the game ended in rout of the Elis, 52-17. . . . Three days later . . . Duke administered a 36-28 win to Wofford College of South Carolina. . . .

BASKETBALL

Opened its Big Five season . . . with an impressive 46-24 triumph . . . over the Wildcats of Davidson College.

Deacs Downed

A gritty Wake Forest quint was next to fall before the onslaught of the Blue Devils . . . 37-19. . . . In their first Southern Conference tilt . . . the Devils routed the Virginia Cavaliers . . . 54-29 to rise on the conference horizon as possible champions. . . . On its second Northern trek . . . the Blue Devils trimmed the Tigers of Princeton University . . . 40-26 . . . and bettered the veteran West Point Cadet team . . . 31-29 . . . with Huiskamp and Podger in the shining roles. . . .

For the next ten days . . . until January 25 . . . the Duke basketeers busied themselves with mid-semester exams . . . it was during this period that Duke's diminutive forward . . . who had rung up a game record of 10-points per . . . was obliged to undergo an appendicitis operation . . . breaking up the Duke starting lineup.

Huiskamp Out

Without the services of its high-scorer . . . Duke resumed its cage schedule on January 25 . . . faced N. C. State at Raleigh. . . . In a bitterly fought and brilliant tussle . . . Duke suffered its first defeat of the season . . . when N. C. State's last minute rally gave them a 36-33 win. . . . In their next tilt . . . Duke defeated V. P. I. by the double score of 40-20. . . . However, a stubborn Old Liner team of Maryland University . . . surprised the Devil five . . . and managed a 38-34 victory over the visiting Durham aggregation. . . .

MARCH ON

As March went out like a lamb . . . the Duke baseball team started their trek toward the Big Five championship. . . They downed Chatham Mills 6 to 4 . . . and 11 to 10 . . . on successive days at Elkin . . . in characteristically ragged openers . . . and prepared to twist the visiting Clemson tiger's tail . . . in the first clash on their home diamond . . . to open their Southern Conference crown race.

APRIL FOOL

Poor fielding prevented a double victory . . . as they dropped a 3-0 decision in the nightcap . . . after a 12 to 8 win in the April opener. . . . The nine went on to crush Elon easily . . . 10 to 2 . . . George Barley making his varsity debut in a six-hitter . . . against the University of Michigan . . . Pete Naktenis with his freak delivery . . . hurled nine innings of good ball . . . and gave the Devils a 4 to 0 victory . . . in a near-no-hit no-run game. . . . A fluke hit in the third spoiled his ticket to the Baseball hall of fame.

QUAKER VICTORY

On April 10 the Demon Deacs mixed two safeties with four walks in the second inning . . . to count all runs . . . and gain a 5 to 1 decision over the visiting Dukes. . . . Next, against Guilford College's Quaker Club . . . The Devils eked out a 6-4 win . . . in a game that was contested all the way . . . by a surprisingly strong Guilford nine.

Ace Parker cracked out a triple and a homer to lead with the pole . . . after a win the previous day . . . 5 to 1 . . . the first defeats the Wildcats had suffered in '35. . . .

A WAITING GAME

The State nine tried to escape defeat by delaying the game . . . according to the umpire's decision . . . who awarded. Duke the game . . . 9 to 0 . . . before darkness set in. . . . The game was in the tenth frame, with the Dukes ahead, 13 to 7 . . . A single by Don Mitchel with Pete Naktenis scoring from third gave Duke a 3-2 decision over Davidson . . . in a ten-inning game. . . . And the following afternoon, the Devil nine took a batting practice . . . swamping the Wildcats 13 to 0 . . . making it six wins in a row and strengthening the Devils' hold on the Big Five leadership.

EASTER BUNNY

The Blue Devils celebrated Easter Monday by scampering off with 13 to 1 and 7 to 2 verdicts over the University of South Carolina . . . running their win streak to eight tilts. . . .

A win over Wake Forest . . . 8 to 6 . . . made it six consecutive . . . in the Big Five . . . with a loss only to Wake Forest . . . Reynolds May, stocky right-hander . . . blanked N. C. State for six innings before the Wolfpack counted four to Duke's ten.

Duke counted a run in the ninth to draw into a tie and ward off defeat and then . . . bunched hits four innings later . . . to take a clash from Wake Forest . . . 10 to 7. . . . The Blue Devils opened their annual Northern invasion with a win over . . . Georgetown . . . 4 to 1 in their twelfth straight victory . . . but were bombarded by the University of Maryland . . . who came from behind to defeat the Devils . . . 12 to 4.

NORTHERN INVASION

In a May day clash . . . the Dukes invaded Princeton and came out with a 13 to 0 victory as George Barley . . . fanned ten and gave three singles. . . . The next day the Dukes pounded three Fordham hurlers . . . for twelve hits which registered ten runs to the Rams' four.

On to Annapolis the roving Devils sank the Navy . . . 3-0 in a dual between Reynolds May . . . and the Middie moundman . . . McGowin. . . . Duke defeated State for the third time, May 8 . . . 11 to 5 . . . taking the lead in the Big Five flag race. . . .

ARCH-RIVALS

In a closing series with Duke's arch-rivals from Chapel Hill . . . the Devils took all three games: 7 to 2 . . . 4 to 0 . . . and 14 to 0. . . . Ken Weafer, who pitched last season's win for the Blue Devils . . . checking a 26-game Tar Heel win streak . . . tossed.

SUCCESSFUL START

With an extra week of training . . . occasioned by the cancellation . . . on account of snow . . . of a meet scheduled for March 8 with V. M. I . . . the Duke tracksters met William and Mary in the Duke stadium . . . and rang up the curtain on their 1935 season with a 71 1-3 to 54 2-3 win.

The Blue Devils took 12 out of 14 second places . . . to overcome the heroic efforts of Monk Little . . . who rang up 20 points single-handed for the visitors. . . . The Williams brothers and Kraushaar swept the field in the shot put . . . and Shehan, Pruitt, and Winstead came through in the 440 . . . in the only clean sweep to the honor of the Dukes. . . . Field and running honors were practically divided.

LANDSLIDE

Having tasted of victory, the harriers swept on . . . to a landslide victory over a visiting W. and L. squad . . . with the final count 97 to 29. . . . The Devils were, however, not impressive on a slow track . . . Martin captured the honors for the Blue and White squad going over the high hurdles in 15.5 seconds. . . . All firsts except the mile and two-mile . . . which went to Dick Dunja, one of the South's best distance runners . . . and the discus . . . went to Duke with most of the seconds.

Woodard took first place in the 100 and 200-yard dashes . . . and Leidy, Moore, Myres, McGrail, and West captured blue ribbons for Duke in the field events.

CONFERENCE MEET

In the conference meet at Chapel Hill the champion Tar Heels surged ahead to nose out the Duke cinder path and weight men . . . to take their 14th consecutive conference championship. The Blue Devils showed surprising strength in the preliminaries . . . setting the pace for the meet. . . . The Chapel Hillmen still held the odds, however. . . . At the end of the first eight events . . . Duke held the lead . . . but . . . a clean sweep of all four places in the half mile . . . gave Carolina first position.

Harry Williamson . . . Carolina's brilliant runner . . . and Woodard, the Blue Devil dash ace . . . ran up high-score positions for themselves . . . with ten points . . . gained by two firsts each . . . Woodard took the 100 and 200-yard dashes. . . . Final scores: Carolina, 75 1-2; Duke, 67.

Moore broke the Duke pole vault record . . . with a leap of 12 feet . . . and Myres jumped 6 3-4 feet . . . to set a new high jump record.

'36 OPENER

The Devil trackmen started their '36 season with a vengeance . . . taking the indoor track meet in Duke gymnasium . . . defeating the defending champions of North Carolina . . . by the margin of 17 points. . . . The Demons from Duke had won the meet . . . after ten of the twelve . . . events had been run off. . . .

Eight new records were set and one tied . . . Duke's score of 48 points . . . it's the highest ever made . . . in the seven years of the games. . . . Frank Sizemore amassed six points . . . to be high scorer for the Devils.

AND THEN . . .

Although all Conference records stood as far as the Devils were concerned . . . University records were broken in many fields . . . Martin jacked up the high-hurdles record to 15.5 . . . West heaved the javelin to 250 feet, 5 inches . . . Moore pole-vaulted to a new record of 12 feet, 7 3-4 inches . . . and Myres high-jumped to 6 feet 3-4 inches.

CROSS-COUNTRY

CROSS-COUNTRY SQUAD UNDEFEATED

The Blue Devil cross-country team won itself a place in the University hall of fame . . . going through an undefeated season . . . and sweeping on to first place in the Southern Conference meet.

It was Coach Charles Ashworth's first Devil squad of hill and dalers . . . which toppled the defending North Carolina University champions . . . in the North Carolina run . . . by a three-point margin to garner the crown. . . . Led by Bill Morse . . . the Azure wave swept in ahead of all opposition.

The Devils opened their season . . . with a 36 to 19 win over the Galloping Gobs at Annapolis . . . with Morse and Charles Koop . . . both Dukemen . . . tied for first . . . and Captain George cutting the tape third.

In their first home meet, they completely outclassed a band of Richmond runners . . . 42 to 20 . . . and followed this victory with a win over the North Carolina State harriers . . . 44 to 19.

Not until they met the Carolina Tar Heels were the Devils hard pressed. . . . The outcome of that meet was in doubt until the last man was home.

In the Southern Conference clash, the Tar Heels were favored to retain their crown . . . but the Blue Devils took seven places . . . and set a record on a snow-covered . . . wind-swept . . . course: Morse romped in first . . . Koop, second . . . Pruitt, sixth . . . Captain George, eighth . . . Ferris, ninth . . . Dator, twelfth . . . and Naudain, thirteenth. . . . Bill Morse set a new record of 26:25.9 to take the blue ribbon. . . .

With all the runners in the conference meet returning in 1936-37 . . . and a capable squad of freshmen coming up . . . prospects point toward a repetition of the historic season of 1935-36.

SOCCER

The first official soccer in Duke history was instituted in 1935 . . . when a squad . . . coached by Jerry Gerard . . . rang up an impressive record . . . of four wins . . . a tie . . . and a single defeat . . . which was at the hands of High Point . . . 4 to 1 . . . Davidson-Duke played to a scoreless tie.

Concurrent with the University opening in September . . . came a movement for athletic-board-sponsored soccer . . . which was finally successful . . . and Jerry Gerard was called upon to field a team to wear the blue and white . . . in inter-collegiate competition. . . . After a few weeks practice, the novice team locked horns with one of the oldest aggregations in the state . . . High Point . . . and defeated the visitors . . . 3 to 2. . . . Duke's first official soccer season was under way!

In a return match with the Panthers at High Point . . . the Devils ran up against a 4 to 1 defeat . . . in which Culler . . . Panther captain . . . played inspired ball that baffled the visitors.

One week later . . . the Devils returned to High Point . . . to meet the strong "Y" team there . . . and won . . . 2 to 1 . . . on a quick kick by Morris that gave the Dukes the lead which they did not relinquish.

The Blue and White rode on the crest of victory over: Durham "Y" . . . 2 to 1 . . . and Davidson . . . an upset . . . 3 to 1 . . . setting up the Devils as one of the outstanding teams of the state . . . with stars in Ambler and Morris.

The 1935 season ended at Davidson . . . with a scoreless deadlock which stood, despite valiant efforts by both teams to waft the sphere into paying territory.

Graduation takes only two men from the '35 squad . . . and Coach Gerard will have nearly his entire first team available . . . with more experience behind them . . . to draw on . . . for a veteran '36 squad . . . which will probably play a bigger . . . and tougher . . . schedule than the first soccer year.

Co-captain Al Mann . . . defending 155-pound champion . . . reached the finals of the 165-pound class . . . only to lose a close decision to Novich . . . of North Carolina University.

Coach Add Warren's Duke boxers started their 1935-36 season . . . with an impressive 6-2 victory over South Carolina . . . administered a 6-2 drubbing to the University of Richmond Spiders . . . riddled the strong Catholic University leather team, 6-2 . . . received an 8-0 forfeit from the N. C. State team . . . and fought to a 4-4 draw with the great University of West Virginia boxing team . . . Eastern Inter-collegiate champs . . . and one of the finest in the country . . . in a spectacular meet. The annual bout with the University of North Carolina was cancelled.

In dual meets . . . three members of the squad . . . Danny Farrar, Jack Kneipp, Al Mann . . . were undefeated . . . Kneipp and Farrar scored every one of their dual wins . . . via the k.o. route . . . and from lightweight to light heavyweight became known as the "Murderers Row." . . .

The personnel of this great team was made up of . . . Bobby Koger, bantamweight . . . Bobby Price, featherweight . . . Jack Kneipp, lightweight . . . Danny Farrar, welterweight . . . Wilton Mann, junior middleweight . . . Co-captain Al Mann, middleweight . . . Co-captain Ray Matulewicz, light heavyweight . . . and Don Schmitt, heavyweight.

WRESTLING

The Duke wrestling squad was swept before an overwhelming band of Washington and Lee matmen . . . who blanked the Devils . . . as both squads opened their 1936 seasons. . . . The Generals took seven falls . . . and one time advantage . . . to roll up 38 points.

The Blue Devils showed considerable improvement . . . when they met Davidson . . . although they were on the unfavorable end of a 16 to 12 decision. . . . Trailing 5 to 12 at the end of five matches . . . the Wildcats went to work and scored 11 points in the next three events.

In their third meet of the season . . . the grapplers lost a 14 to 12 verdict to N. C. State . . . in Franklin Thomas Memorial Gymnasium. . . . There was only one fall scored in the meet . . . that by Thompson . . . who threw Haines to break a deadlock and give State a safe advantage.

The rival Carolina matmen took Duke into camp . . . 16 to 14 . . . after trailing 5 to 11. . . . In the last clash before the Southern Conference meet . . . the Dukes fell before the attack of the V. M. I. mat men . . . 27 to 3 . . . in the Duke gym.

With the conference meet . . . a ''family affair'' between W. and L. and V. M. I. . . . the Duke wrestling team was able to show only three points.

Although the Duke matmen were defeated in all of their major meets and failed to win any crowns . . . they showed good form and general improvement with each succeeding encounter . . . with the entire team back next year . . . Coach Neeley is expected to turn out a representative wrestling squad.

SEVEN OF ELEVEN

The Duke golfers took seven of eleven intercollegiate matches in 1935 and captured the State and Conference titles. . . . They started the season right with a win over Furman . . . 10 1-2 to 7 1-2 . . . but slumped in the following clash . . . losing to Georgia Tech . . . 10 1-2 to 7 1-2. . . . The next day . . . they romped over Emory . . . 14 1-2 to 3 1-2 . . . and continued to win over Georgia, 2 1-2 to Duke's 15 1-2 . . . Florida, 4 1-2 to 13 1-2 . . . and N. C. State 1-2 to 17 1-2 . . . Georgia Tech again upset them . . . but did not take the decision . . . gaining only a 9-9 draw . . . North Carolina University . . . two days later . . . did overcome the Duke golfers . . . 10 to 8. . . . The Devils came back in the two following meets . . . to down Furman . . . 11 1-2 to 6 1-2 . . . and N. C. State . . . 16 1-2 to 1 1-2.

At the State meet . . . Duke lead the teams home . . . requiring only 612 aggregate strokes . . . to do the stretch . . . to 619 for N. C. U. . . . and 635 for N. C. State.

In an interval between the State meet and the Conference meet . . . the Devils gained another victory . . . over N. C. U. . . . 10 1-2 to 7 1-2 . . and went on to set the Southern Conference crown securely on their heads . . . with a lead of 13 strokes over N. C. State . . . their nearest rivals. . . . The Devils came through in 613 strokes . . . and the Statesmen took 626.

TENNIS

The Blue Devil tennis team opened its 1935 activities in a tie with the Ohio State raqueteers . . . 3-3 . . . by virtue of a finals doubles win with Nick Ashby and Charlie Gill figuring. . . . Their next meet . . . with the Carolina Tar Heels . . . set them back to a 1 to 5 loss . . . in a match cut short by rain . . . before Duke could send in its strong doubles scorers.

Two days later . . . thirsting for their delayed. victory . . . the courtsters journied to Southern Pines . . . to take the State tennis team into camp . . . 9 to 0 . . . sweeping clean all classes. . . . And on April 30 . . . the Devils repeated their 9-0 performance . . . over Wake Forest. . . . They again swept through the Deacons on May 3.

They were unable to withstand a strong attack by the University of Virginia courtsters . . . who eked out a 5 to 4 victory . . . taking all the singles . . . and losing to Duke in the doubles. . . . With their usual all-or-nothing spirit . . . the Devil raqueteers went on to blank William and Mary . . . and took a 7 to 2 win from George Washington University.

At Princeton, they again met a Waterloo . . . dropping a match to the Tigers . . . by their usual score . . . but with themselves on the small end of the 9 to 0 score.

The Tars of Annapolis sank 2-7 under the attack of the fighting Devils . . . fresh from a smarting defeat in the hands of Princeton . . . and the Dukes rang down the curtain on their 1935 season with an 8 to 1 victory over the North Carolina State netters.

SWIMMING

The Blue Devils opened their swimming season inauspiciously . . . with a 30 to 51 loss to Virginia . . . in their own pool . . . and went on to William and Mary . . . to open their season on foreign fields. . . . The Williamsburg team was a little too speedy for the visiting Dukes . . . who dropped the decision 42 to 41 . . . in a heart-breaking meet . . . especially to Dailey . . . who broke the W. and M. pool record of 2:37.3.

Returning to North Carolina . . . the Duke mermen faced N. C. State in a dual meet which they lost . . . 51 1-2 to 30 1-2. . . . The State quartet set a new pool record winning the 400-yard relay . . . and Captain Carroll Dailey, of Duke, set up a new pool record in the 200-yard breast stroke . . . registering Dukes only first place in the meet.

Smarting under their bad streak on the records . . . the mermen unmercilously trounced the V. P. I. natators . . . with Dailey again turning in a pool record . . . 2:41.7 . . . and leading the Devils to a 53 to 31 win . . . and Colson, of Duke . . . also hung up a new pool record in the 220.

Duke paid a surprise visit to the W. and L. mermen . . . who took them over the traditional rocks . . . 54 to 30. . . . The Generals were not expecting their visitors . . . due to a mix up in arrangements . . . and the meet was delayed while the swimmers were gathered together.

After a rest occasioned by a cancelled meet with the Goldsboro Y. M. C. A. . . . the Dukes locked horns with Clemson and came out on the pleasant end of a 44 to 39 count.

Then came the conference meet in the Duke pool. . . . With four losses to half as many wins . . . the Devils were not favored to show to advantage . . . in the conference meet . . . in their own pool . . . BUT . . . they pulled a surprise out of the bag . . . and trailed the championship W. and L. team . . . to take second place from State . . . which had trounced them earlier in the season. . . .

LITTLE FIVE CROWN

For the second consecutive year . . . the Duke Frosh gridders won the Little Five championship . . . defeating Oak Ridge . . . swamping Wake Forest . . . overcoming N. C. State . . . romping over Davidson . . . and eking out a victory over the fighting Tar Babies.

They registered 107 points to their opponents six. . . . Assisting head coach Hershel Caldwell to mould the championship Imp aggregation were . . . backfield coach Horace Hendrickson . . . and line coach Tom Rogers . . . both ex-Devil gridmen.

FIRST PERFORMANCE

The Imps gave the first account of themselves . . . downing a visiting Oak Ridge team, 13 to 0 . . . in a game that showed their possibilities . . . but in which they showed little of the form that made them champions. . . . Don Petrey and Bob O'Mara raced into the promised land once each . . . and Clay Nixon booted the 13th point.

IMPS ANNIHILATE DEACS

Next . . . they piled up 40 markers over Wake Forest's Yearling eleven . . . who were able to pass for a lone tally. . . . The first string steamrollered to 20 points in five minutes . . . and the subs got their chance to prove their prowess. . . . Bill Bailey . . . Dan (Red) Hill . . . Bob Spangler. . . Ken Lovell . . . and Bob O'Mara . . . all carried the pigskin over. . . . The lone Deac score came when Fuller snared a pass over the double stripe.

WOLF CUBS OUTFOUGHT

Heralded as the best freshman grid team in North Carolina . . . the N. C. State Frosh . . . were nevertheless unable to cope with the onslaught of the determined Caldwell eleven . . . result, a 14-0 win for the Imps. . . . Both touchdowns came via 80-yard drives . . . a lateral. . . . Tipton-to-Maze-to-Spangler gave the first six-pointer with Lovell crossing the final chalk mark for the second. . . . Willie Mize and Clay Nixon each hit the cross-bars for an extra point. . . . The spectacular all-round playing of Eric, "Speedboy," Tipton and Ken Lovell were the features of the afternoon in the Raleigh stadium.

IMPS RAIN PASSES

The following Saturday afternoon . . . the Imps took the Wild Kittens of Davidson over . . . 33-0. . . . The feature of the fray was the Gross-to-Wallace passing combination. . . . Johnny Gross, Jesse Quinn, and Wallace accounted for the Duke touchdowns . . . the Imps were on their way to their second consecutive crown.

SAME OLD STORY

The annual Duke-Carolina freshman game . . . this time played at Carolina . . . proved itself the same old story . . . two teams battling their hearts out in a traditional tilt. . . . Carolina took the limelight the first half. . . . BUT . . . the Imps came back strong. . . . Bob Haas and Clay Nixon blocked a Carolina punt . . . Nixon fell on the bounding pigskin behind the Tar Heels' goal line and the 0-0 tie was broken . . . Nixon converted giving Duke the 7-0 victory . . . and with it the Big Five crown.

TWENTY-EIGHT NUMERALS

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

BIG FIVE CHAMPIONS

Starting the 1935-36 season with a 25-17 win over a strong Newport News High School five . . . Coach Herschel Caldwell's Blue Imp cagers swept through . . . to win the freshman Big Five championship of North Carolina. . . . In the deciding game . . . the Imps trimmed the N. C. State yearlings . . . 30-26.

After winning sixteen straight tilts . . . the Imps dropped their final game of the season . . . to a hard-fighting Baby Deac quint of Wake Forest . . . the score of this tussle . . . which had no bearing on the championship . . . was 34-29.

The Blue Imp victory string contained the scalps of Newport News High, 25-17 . . . Raleigh High, 41-26 . . . Wake Forest frosh (first game), 32-29 . . . Greenville High, 36-19 . . . Oak Ridge Military Academy, 41-28 . . . Irwin Red Birds, 43-19 . . . Durham High, 28-20 . . . N. C. State Wolflets (first game), 42-35 . . . V. P. I. freshmen, 31-16 . . . Belmont Abby, 43-13 . . . Newport News Training School, 37-16 . . . Newport News High (second game), 35-24 . . . William and Mary frosh, 39-28 . . . Morristown High, of Tennessee, 27-19 . . . N. C. State yearlings (second game), 40-18 . . . North Carolina freshmen, 30-26 . . . Wake Forest frosh (second game), 34-29.

During this very successful season . . . a number of Coach Herschel Caldwell's Imps put on excellent floor exhibitions . . . but outstanding throughout the season were the performances of . . . Johnny Logan, sterling guard . . . Bob O'Mara, high-scoring forward . . . Ed Swindell and John Thomas, forward and guard respectively, and former Durham high school hardwood stars . . . and John Minor, the elongated Blue Imp center.

At the conclusion of the season . . . numerals were awarded to twelve members of the freshman squad: John Logan, . . . Robert O'Mara, . . . Ed Swindell, . . . John Thomas, . . . Walter Finn, . . . R. M. Frosberg, . . . Walter Kerr, . . . Maurice Lohman, . . . Richard Gingland, . . . John Minor, . . . Herbert Phillips, . . . and Russell Bergman.

FRESHMEN BASEBALL

Although the 1935 Duke University freshman baseball squad was not as successful as the Blue Imp basketball and football teams, it tallied nine victories out of sixteen engagements for a mediocre season. . . . The Imp victories were scored against the freshman nine of Wake Forest . . . North Carolina . . . N. C. State College . . . Augusta Military Academy of Georgia . . . and over the high school teams of Durham and Petersburg.

Standing head over shoulders above his mates . . . during the 1935 season . . . was Lovill (Chubby) Dean, a crack diamonder who excelled in pitching and outfielding. . . . His batting average for the season was slightly over the .400 mark. . . . Coach Jack Coombs, of the Duke varsity, was depending on Dean to help bolster the Blue Devil varsity nine, riddled by graduation, but a sudden turn of events saw the promising frosh baseballer tossing his lot in with the Philadelphia Athletics. . . . In his first year of professional playing, Chubby Dean has been making rapid strides. . . . Besides Dean, Coach Herschel Caldwell had an able hurler in Dave Smith and a good catcher in Hans Wagner.

In one of the best freshman games of the North Carolina Big Five League . . . Duke yearlings defeated the N. C. State first year players, 1-0 . . . with Lovill Dean hurling a no-hit, no-run game.

After opening their season with a 11-4 defeat at the hands of the strong Oak Ridge Military Academy diamonders . . . the Blue Imps smacked a 4-3 win over the Baby Deacs of Wake Forest . . . N. C. State was next to fall, 1-0 . . . Durham high School was swamped, 22-4. The Cadets of Augusta Military Academy eked out a 6-5 win from the Imps with Wake Forest following suit, 5-4 . . . N. C. State was again humbled, 3-2 and Wake Forest being defeated in succession, 9-2, 5-4. . . . Petersburg High nine of Virginia was the next victim of the Imps, 10-9. . . . In their next game with the N. C. State yearlings, the Imps dropped a 11-5 verdict when the Wolflets banged across seven runs in the seventh inning to sew-up the game . . . the next Duke-N. C. State game went to the Imps, 5-4. . . . Of the three games played between the Duke and the North Carolina frosh, the Tar Babies won the first two but the Imps came back strong . . . in their final game of the year to register an 8-7 win.

INTRAMURALS

INTRAMURALS

Intramurals at Duke had their birth five years ago . . . when Wallace Wade . . . believing that intramurals have a definite place in the program of education . . . brought Kenneth C. Gerard from the University of Illinois . . . to take charge of the infant program . . . which has since grown to rival any in the country.

The opportunity offered to such a large group of students . . . has been a prime factor in its rapid rise . . . to a position rivaling even the varsity sports. . . . Established to bring out the qualities of fair play . . . cooperation . . . respect . . . sacrifice . . . and loyalty. . . . The program has this year enlisted more than 1,500 men . . . in the wide variety of athletic eliminations and tournaments. . . . More than 2,400 entries have been made . . . showing the extensive participation of many men.

During the 1935-36 season . . . Fall tennis . . . Touch football . . . Basketball . . . Boxing . . . Wrestling . . . Fall track . . . Handball . . . Swimming . . . Water polo . . . Volley ball . . . Horseshoes . . . Spring tennis . . . Playground ball . . . Spring track . . . and Golf contests gave every Duke man a chance to participate in his favorite sports.

The program which celebrates its fifth birthday in 1936 is definitely growing . . . and is encouraged to continue to expand. . . . The gymnasium in use at present was originally intended for use only as an intramurals gym . . . showing the plans of the administration for this branch of Duke athletics. . . . A varsity gymnasium was intended to be built on the present Freshman baseball diamond.

Interest in the intramurals program has received much of its intensity from the rivalry between the Greek organizations . . . which expend great energy on their teams . . . and regard the ribbons and cups highly. . . . The freshman houses also enter teams and often develop unusual rivalry . . . although not as continually as the fraternities. . . . In addition to the team awards which are coveted by organizations . . . on the campus . . . the many individual awards . . . for instance, in . . . boxing and wrestling . . . are vigorously fought for by the contestants . . . who enjoy competition . . . as well and as much as their big brothers on the varsity teams.

Coach Carl Voyles . . . varsity track coach . . . and assistant football coach . . . was a prime factor in the institution of the present system of intramural competition when he came from the University of Illinois five years ago.

INTRAMURALS

An unusually full program of intramural competition . . . gave to every student on the Duke campus . . . a chance to demonstrate his ability and enjoy the sports of his choice. . . . It also gave the varsity coaches a chance to watch the students . . . and select those with possibilities of developing into first-string material.

Working under Coach Jerry Gerard . . . through the intramurals office . . . a staff of house athletic representatives provided the contact between the administration and the participants in the tournaments. . . . The representatives were elected at the beginning of the year by the students of each dormitory or fraternity.

The first event of the season was a touch football league which aroused an unusual amount of interest . . . and saw Kappa Sigma fraternity and House P sharing the University championship . . . Sigma Chi won the blue ribbon place in its division.

Kappa Sigma again proved its sports prowess in spring track . . . when a team representing it won the first place. . . . In the individual scoring, however, Clark, an independent, was first . . . Stephenson, independent, second . . . and Griffin, Hauser and H. Moore . . . all frosh tracksters . . . third.

The pugilistic instincts of the Duke students were then catered to in a boxing loop which, perhaps, drew the most interest of all the events. . . . Besides a large enrollment in the loop . . . the large audiences that saw the fights filled the small boxing room to overflowing every night.

Kappa Sigma again took the first team place. In the 115-pound class . . . Russo, Southgate . . . won, and in 125 . . . Morelock, K. S. . . . placed first . . . with two more Kappa Sigs . . . Gannon and Blalock first in the 135 and 145 respectively . . . and three Southgate men taking the heavier weights . . . Poerner, 155 . . . Truit, 165 . . . and Washer, 175 . . . and Glenn, representing Epworth winning the unlimited class. The runners-up starting with 115 were . . . Der Tatavasian . . . Gillis . . . Groves . . . Ardolino . . . Melrum . . . Ross . . . Morris . . . and Champion.

After a long campaign . . . a tennis tournament, which started the new semester, ended with Graeber at the top of the singles heap . . . and the Beich-Taylor combination in the doubles lead. . . . Following Graeber were Beich and Hulme . . . and second in doubles competition . . . were Seeberg and Staley.

BLEAK, sand-swept rocks . . . towering mountain peaks . . . expansive fields of native Rhododendron . . . saintly shepherds and their tiny flocks . . . rustic, ancestral log houses, passed on from father to son through generations of hardy, unhurried mountaineers . . . are but a few of the simple and impressive beauties that reward the visitor to the "Little Switzerland" of North Carolina.

FRATERNITIES

FRATERNITY PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

Jim McCall
President

The belief that the best interests of Greek-letter fraternities of Duke University, with respect both to our individual chapters and to the general organizations, would be fostered by the organization and functioning of a body of duly constituted representatives from the various active chapters at Duke was the basis for the organization of the Pan-Hellenic Council.

The Council is composed of one representative from each of the local and national fraternities represented on the Duke campus. After serving one year as a junior representative, the member is well trained for his responsibilities as senior member.

The Pan-Hellenic Council sponsors several important dances each year, with both local and outside orchestras. Frank Dailey played for the fall series, and the spring dances featured Jimmie Lunceford. These dances are important elements of the social life at Duke.

Serving as a common meeting ground on which the various problems of fraternities are discussed and performing regulatory duties in matters relating to rushing, pledging, and initiation of men are very important functions of the Council. The deferred rushing system was introduced to the fraternity system at Duke two years ago. In connection with this system, a "C" average requirement for one semester's work for rushees was established. Slight modifications have been made since the inauguration of the deferred rushing plan.

The Sorority Pan-Hellenic Council, the governing body of intersorority activities, is composed of two representatives from each of the eleven sororities. These girls are selected by their respective groups. Officers on the council rotate from year to year, thus avoiding unnecessary rivalry. The Council makes and enforces rules concerning rushing, pledging, and initiation of all girls.

At the end of each year the Council formulates new rushing rules based on those of preceding years, but with those changes which the Council considers will be advantageous to the sororities and the student body as a whole.

During the past summer the old Crowell Science building was converted into a Sorority Pan-Hellenic House, and there the sororities have had social functions throughout the year. The Council sponsored a Pan-Hellenic dance this year which was enjoyed by everyone.

A scholarship cup is awarded semiannually to the sorority having the highest scholastic average for the preceding semester. Each year, the Council awards a scholarship of $100 to some senior. This award is based on the grades of the Junior year and the first semester of the Senior year.

Eleven National sororities are represented on the campus, and the Council feels that in the future a closer cooperation will bind them together more and more. The new house has done much to foster a better spirit among all of the sorority members.

HISTORY

Alpha Tau Omega was the first fraternity established after the Civil War. Founded at Richmond, Virginia, by three young Confederate soldiers, it was projected as a national organization which should know no bounds, and the first chapter was placed at Virginia Military Institute.

The fraternity now extends among college groups in forty-four states, and was the first Southern fraternity to maintain successfully chapters in the North.

The first fraternity to become incorporated, it was granted a charter in 1879 by the Supreme Court of Maryland, at the instance of the fraternity members assembled in Congress at Baltimore. A. T. O. has been a member of the Inter-Fraternity Conference since the initial meeting of that body.

Xi Chapter is the oldest fraternity on the Duke campus. It was the ninth Alpha Tau Omega Chapter to be established, and is now the fourth oldest in the order of existing ones. Originally North Carolina Alpha Chapter, the name was changed to Xi in 1890, at the end of the anti-fraternity period at Trinity.

HISTORY

The University of Virginia campus was the scene for the founding of Kappa Sigma. The founders are known in its literature and traditions as "the five friends and brothers." During the first years the members were noted for their high social status in the South. Kappa Sigma was the first southern fraternity to attempt northern expansion. There are now chapters in forty-five states and one in Canada.

Kappa Sigma at first followed a policy of direct establishment of chapters, and it was nearly fourteen years before a chapter was established from a local society.

The fraternity maintains funds for keeping in close touch with individuals and chapters. Scholarship is stressed. The patriotic sense is embodied in the fraternal order, and each chapter displays an American flag.

Eta Prime of Kappa Sigma ranks second on the campus in point of age. It also has the distinction of being the third Kappa Sigma chapter. Since the establishment of an intramural sports department here, the Duke Kappa Sigs have been outstanding.

HISTORY

The founding of Phi Delta Theta was at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, the fraternity being one of the members of the celebrated "Triad." At present Phi Delta Theta has about the largest number of initiates and the widest Canadian expansion of any fraternity.

It was intended in the beginning that the fraternity extend to other institutions, and this policy was entered upon forthwith. Before the opening of the Civil War a sound foundation for growth had been laid, although the hostilities checked further development.

In the history of Phi Delta Theta is the only instance of bicameral fraternity chapters. This was an exigency of the sub rosa nature of the chapters at anti-fraternity institutions.

North Carolina Alpha chapter, the third oldest national fraternity at Duke, has had two periods of existence. The first ended in 1879, when all fraternities were banned at Trinity. The second period began when the local body, Epsilon Alpha Sigma, was granted a charter and the original name in 1926.

HISTORY

The Southern Order of Kappa Alpha, in contradiction to the smaller fraternity of that name which exists principally in the North, was founded at Washington College before that institution became Washington and Lee University.

The aim of the founders was to preserve the basic southern characteristics, other than sectional, in a fraternity confined to the southern states. The three chapters in California form the main exception to this principle. As far as individual membership is concerned, statehood is not a restriction. Indeed, the alumni associations are nation-wide in scope.

Kappa Alpha was not so fortunate in its infancy as some other fraternal organizations, for in many institutions where chapters were placed, anti-fraternity legislation shortly went into effect. Thus, it was left to a small nucleus of chapters working together to effect its permanent organization.

Alpha Phi chapter is the fourth oldest fraternity on Duke campus. It was organized soon after the edict against fraternities here was repealed by the Trinity College Board of Trustees.

HISTORY

Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, founded at the University of Virginia, was the outcome of the close friendship of five men who served together in the Confederate Army, notably in the Battle of New Market.

The initial chapter was the governing authority for some years, granting charters, installing chapters, and determining policies. The Pi Kappa Alpha convention of 1889 limited expansion to the southern states, so as to further a concentrated development. Later the field was opened to include the southwestern states, and has since been broadened to permit growth throughout the United States.

One of the chapters possesses a unique meeting place. It is a replica of a Pueblo Indian council chamber and is located on the University of New Mexico campus, only initiates being permitted entrance.

Pi Kappa Alpha has an intricate organization which extends even to each individual member and pledge, including a uniform pledging ceremony, a form examination, and numerous awards. Alpha Alpha chapter is fifth in age among the fraternities at Duke.

HISTORY

Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity was founded at Richmond College, now the University of Richmond, from a local society called the Saturday Night Club. During its first two years the parent chapter encountered a great deal of opposition, both sarcastic and even directly hostile in character, from members of the college community. The fraternity, however, has managed to survive and expand rapidly, until now its scope is nation wide.

The early chapters were formed for the express purpose of joining Sigma Phi Epsilon. The granting of charters to local petitioning bodies has been the most frequent method of inception for the later chapters.

A remarkable innovation is the "Sigma Phi Epsilon Plan of Finance." Under this system the financial affairs of all the chapters are administered by their alumni. It has relieved the undergraduate of a considerable burden and has proved profitable in cases where there has previously been loss.

North Carolina Gamma chapter, sixth in age of nationals here, was installed from the local group, Beta Nu.

HISTORY

Sigma Chi is a member of the "Miami Triad" of national social fraternities that found origin at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Within six months after the mother chapter was first organized, a second chapter of Sigma Chi was brought into being at Ohio Wesleyan. The fraternity was incorporated in 1899 under the laws of Illinois as "The Grand Council of the Sigma Chi Fraternity." Its expansion throughout the United States has been effected mostly through the granting of charters to petitioning groups.

The Magazine of Sigma Chi has gradually developed from a local journal (1881) into the publication of all the chapters, edited several times a year.

Phenomenal in fraternity histories was the "Constantine chapter," composed of Sigma Chis serving in the Army of the Tennessee, having for its institution the Confederate Army and for its fraternal meeting-place the battlefield.

Beta Lambda is seventh in age among the chapters of national fraternities at Duke. It was the sixty-eighth group to be chartered by Sigma Chi.

HISTORY

The only national fraternity ever founded in the State of South Carolina, Pi Kappa Phi began its existence at the College of Charleston. Up to 1927, when anti-fraternity statutes were stricken from the body of state legislation, Pi Kappa Phi was faced with the stern opposition to fraternities which was the feeling among the educational institutions in South Carolina for about thirty years.

Now, with the changed attitude, Pi Kappa Phi has made rapid headway in its mother state. It has had a steady and consistent growth outside. This has been more pronounced in the South, though not by intention. Membership in Pi Kappa Phi is limited to initiates, there being no honorary members.

It is interesting to note that its three founders were all warm friends from earliest school years in old Charleston. Their desire was to clothe their friendship in permanence, and consequently they established the fraternity.

Mu chapter at Duke ranks eighth in age among the national groups on the campus.

HISTORY

The College of the City of New York was the founding-place of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, an order of thirty-five years' existence. The fraternity has had a substantial development, although its policy of expansion has been conservative.

Since 1906 Delta Sigma Phi has been extended for the most part through the admittance of local groups by charter. Some of these had been well established organizations even before giving up their local identity. It is noteworthy that the Alfred University group had been started in 1901 as the Ku Klux Klan.

Though place names were given the chapters as they were admitted up to 1906, the Greek letter nomenclature was adopted then with one exception. This is the Hilgard chapter at the University of California, so designated because of the profound respect in which its chief patron's name is held.

Alpha Epsilon of Duke is the ninth oldest national on the campus.

HISTORY

Somewhat unusual was the origin of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. It was founded at Boston University, growing out of the Cosmopolitan Law Club, which had been active there for several years. It was made a Greek-letter society with a view to national expansion.

The fraternity did not establish further chapters, however, for more than two years; but, when expansion did take place, a great many of the chapters were formed from existing clubs. The former clubs were augmented by the granting of Lambda Chi Alpha charters to petitioning groups.

Lambda Chi has had a remarkable growth, no chapter, up to 1930 at least, having become permanently inactive. There are chapters now in thirty-eight states of the Union; and, with the establishment of a Toronto chapter in 1927, the fraternity became international. Lambda Chi is a charter member of the Inter-Fraternity Conference.

Gamma Theta Zeta is tenth in age among Duke fraternities. Before 1924 it was the local fraternity Beta Pi.

HISTORY

The Rainbow or W. W. W. society was founded in 1848 at the University of Mississippi. It was about ten years later that the parent chapter of Delta Tau Delta was organized at Bethany College, within the present limits of West Virginia. After lengthy negotiations the Rainbow fraternity in 1886 united with Delta Tau Delta. By this union the Rainbow chapters were entitled to membership in the Greek-letter order, though there is a distinction between these and the duly invested Delta chapters.

This merging of national groups is unique in fraternity annals. The Rainbow, because of greater age and different characteristics, was a valuable initiate into the conventional fraternity, and in truth members of the latter may well trace their fraternal lineage from both sources.

Delta Tau Delta exists in all parts of the country and has expanded into Canada.

The Duke chapter, Delta Kappa, is eight years old. In all of the Delt chapters a periodical is published at least once a year.

HISTORY

Eight students at the University of Alabama were the founders of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. From this first chapter, which was given the name of Mu, the fraternity has had a rapid and constant growth. S. A. E. now exists in forty-six states.

The wartime history of Sigma Alpha Epsilon is of absorbing interest. When the Civil War came, whole chapters, and parts of others went into service, there being members in both armies. A Kentucky girl who kept intact the documents of one of the chapters during the war period was rewarded with membership and the distinction of being the fraternity's only woman member.

The World War battlefield was the scene of two S. A. E. initiation ceremonies, one in a German castle and another in a French chateau; and alumni associations were also formed on the Continent.

North Carolina Nu chapter, when it came into existence five years ago, was formed from the local club, Phi Delta Sigma.

HISTORY

Sigma Nu fraternity grew out of a secret society established at Virginia Military Institution in 1868 called the Legion of Honor. The Greek letter designation and other college fraternity characteristics were adopted on January 1 of the very next year, the official date of founding of Sigma Nu by three western men.

The Delta was so named because of the triangular relationship between the Alpha, Kappa, and Lambda chapters who collaborated in publishing it first in 1883. The official fraternity song is the recently written "White Star of Sigma Nu."

Sigma Nu has active chapters in all the forty-eight states. Early in its history, growth was stimulated in the West, and the East was later exploited.

The original Gamma chapter having ceased to exist, the Duke group, formerly the local "Goblins," was formally installed as Gamma chapter of Sigma Nu. Bearing the name of the third oldest chapter of their fraternity, the Sigma Nus are one of the newest nationals on Duke campus.

HISTORY

Phi Kappa Psi was founded at Jefferson College, Washington, Pa., now Washington and Jefferson College, February 19, 1852. At the time it originated, there was an epidemic of typhoid fever at the college, and the warm friendships arising under the conditions of such trying times and from the close contacts between the afflicted and the friends ministering to them ripened into fraternal sentiment leading to the foundation of Phi Kappa Psi.

The Civil War was a trying crisis in the affairs of the fraternity, with all southern chapters becoming extinct, and a large proportion of the fraternity's membership enlisted in the Union or Confederate armies. In the following forty years, however, expansion was rapid.

Sigma Delta, a local fraternity, was founded at Duke University in the spring of 1928, the object of the founders being the petitioning of a well-known national fraternity. Its efforts were early directed toward Phi Kappa Psi, in the summer of 1934 its petition was formally accepted, and in the fall of 1934 Sigma Delta became North Carolina Alpha of Phi Kappa Psi.

FACTS

Number of initiates, 190; Number of alumni, 154; Colors, black and gold; Flower, white carnation; Founded, September, 1933; Number of initiates into Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, 39.

HISTORY

In the spring of 1926, Pi Epsilon Pi was established here. From the time of its organization the fraternity took its place among the other social fraternities on the campus as an active and promising organization.

The fall of 1928 saw the founding of another local, Sigma Alpha Omega, at Duke. This organization was founded with the purpose of petitioning a national fraternity. After two years of negotiations, Sigma Alpha Omega was permitted to change its name to Phi Kappa Sigma Club of Duke University.

It was on Monday, May 13, 1935, that these two strong locals combined resources to form a unit. The new organization bears the name Phi Kappa Sigma Club.

The Club is petitioning Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, and is becoming more closely connected to the national organization by colonization. By means of this plan, most of the members of the local have been initiated into Phi Kappa Sigma by the Lambda chapter at the University of North Carolina.

The fraternities on this campus await with pleasure the addition of a new national to their number.

HISTORY

Alpha Delta Pi, one of the largest and oldest national sororities, was originally the Adelphean Society, founded May 15, 1851, at Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga. The Adelphean Society, being the first secret society for women, founded at the first college for women, holds an important place in the early development of national sororities. The members of Alpha chapter applied for a charter and the society became nationally known as Alpha Delta Pi. This name was later changed to avoid any misunderstanding regarding a fraternity existing under the same name. As Alpha Delta Pi it has grown and expanded throughout the United States, and it became international with the installation of several chapters in Canada.

The Adelphean, the national publication, is issued quarterly.

Omicron chapter of Alpha Delta Pi has the distinction of being the first sorority on the Duke campus. It was installed in 1911 when Duke was known as Trinity College and has developed and expanded with the school. Since its installation approximately two hundred girls have been initiated into Alpha Delta Pi by Omicron

HISTORY

Kappa Delta Sorority was founded by four girls at Virginia State Normal, Farmville, Virginia, on October 23, 1897. Through personal friendships of the Virginia girls with those of other colleges, new chapters were rapidly added to the organization. The first convention was held in Richmond, Virginia, in 1904, at which six chapters were represented. Since that time the society has established chapters throughout the United States. The journal of Kappa Delta is the Angelos, which was first published in 1904.

Virginia is the center of Kappa Delta philanthropic projects because it is the state of the sorority's founding. In Richmond, Virginia, the national organization maintains a ward, a dental room, and a gymnasium in the Richmond Crippled Children's Hospital. Aside from this, individual chapters of Kappa Delta carry on community charitable work.

Sigma Delta of Kappa Delta was installed at Trinity College, now Duke University, on April 19, 1912, by two members of the national council, Misses Cora Vaughn and Jean Coltrone. Kappa Delta was the second sorority to be installed on the Trinity College campus, and since that time has grown steadily.

HISTORY

Zeta Tau Alpha was founded at Virginia State Normal School, Farmville, Virginia, on October 15, 1898. For several months after its founding it was known as the ??? (The Three Question Mark Girls). Before April, 1899, the Greek name was adopted, and on March 15, 1902, Zeta Tau Alpha was chartered as a legal corporation by the legislature of Virginia. Thus it was not only the first women's fraternity to be chartered in the state of Virginia, but the first chartered by a special act of the legislature.

Northern sororities had become well established by the end of the nineteenth century, but the southern field was left practically open. Zeta Tau Alpha was one of the first sororities to fill this need of organization in the South, and for several years continued its expansion in the southern states. The first northern chapter was started at Boston University, February 22, 1912. Zeta Tau Alpha became international in 1929 with the installation of Beta Rho Chapter at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada.

The magazine of Zeta Tau Alpha, Themis, is published quarterly, and was first issued in 1903.

HISTORY

Kappa Alpha Theta, the first Greek-letter fraternity known among women, was founded at DePauw University, then Asbury College, at Greencastle, Indiana, in 1870. Although at that time there were three other women's fraternities in existence, these did not adopt Greek letter names until somewhat later. Kappa Alpha Theta was founded in a co-educational institution where the same needs which led to the establishment of Greek letter societies among men were felt by the women; therefore, Theta was the first society for women organized with principles and methods akin to those of the Greek-letter fraternities.

The magazine, the Kappa Alpha Theta, is published quarterly, the first issue being in 1885.

In 1925, a local, Sigma Tau, was formed, which petitioned Kappa Alpha Theta. In 1928, the petition was accepted and Sigma Tau was installed as Beta Rho chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta. Since 1928 Beta Rho has initiated one hundred girls into Kappa Alpha Theta, and has always maintained a high standard, both scholastically and socially on the Duke University campus.

HISTORY

Kappa Kappa Gamma is one of the oldest of the Greek-letter sororities. It was founded at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Illinois, in 1870. Kappa was the first sorority to call a Pan-Hellenic Congress, to hold a national convention, to institute a central form of government, to publish a sorority magazine, to form a uniform budget system, and to send coorganizers to assist new chapters. A complete history of Kappa Kappa Gamma was presented to the national convention of 1930.

The Key, a quarterly publication, contains news-letters from all active chapters, and discussions of sorority problems and events, both national and local.

Kappa maintains two funds: one set aside to assist needy Kappas; the other, to give deserving students an opportunity to complete their education.

In 1928, a local sorority, Sigma Beta, was organized on the Duke University campus with the express purpose of petitioning Kappa Kappa Gamma. The official petition was submitted in March, 1930, and on October 25, of the same year, Sigma Beta became Delta Beta chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

FACTS

Number of active chapters, 44; Total membership, 8,459; Sigma Kappa founded, 1874; Alpha Psi at Duke, January 4, 1931; Colors, maroon and lavender; Flower, violet; Publication, Triangle.

HISTORY

Sigma Kappa stands among the pioneer Greek-letter societies for women. It was founded in 1874 at Colby College, Waterville, Maine, by the first five women enrolled there, and became a member of National Pan-Hellenic Congress in 1904. Since that time Sigma Kappa has become international, having chapters located in Canada.

The chief publication of the sorority is the Triangle, a quarterly magazine issued first in 1907, giving a full account of Sigma Kappa activities and interesting personalities.

In 1918, Sigma Kappa adopted as its national philanthropy the educational work of the Maine Sea Coast Missionary Society. This work is centered among the fisherfolk on the many small islands off the New England coast.

In 1922, a scholarship fund was established for the purpose of aiding members of Sigma Kappa to complete college courses. As an incentive to encourage high scholarship, a national committee makes an annual award of a scholarship cup to the chapter having the best record.

The local sorority, Delta Psi, was organized in February, 1929, with the purpose of petitioning Sigma Kappa for a charter. The petition was accepted in December, 1930, and on January 4, 1931, Delta Psi was installed as Alpha Psi chapter of Sigma Kappa.

FACTS

Number of active chapters, 87; Total membership, 20,780; Delta Delta Delta founded, November, 1888; Alpha Omicron at Duke, November, 1931; Colors, silver, gold and blue; Flower, pansy; Publication, Trident.

HISTORY

Delta Delta Delta was founded at Boston University on Thanskgiving Eve, 1888. Tri-Delta has never been a sectional organization. Founded in the East, its first charters were distributed over all sections of this country, and three chapters were established in Canada. Tri-Delta has alumnae chapters in all of the larger cities.

Delta Delta Delta was one of the six sororities represented at the first Pan-Hellenic Congress which was held in 1891. In the first history of the sorority, published in 1907, there was a chapter devoted to the development of the Pan-Hellenic movement. The other publications of Delta Delta Delta include the quarterly magazine, the Trident, published since 1891. A song book and various secret publications are also issued.

Delta Delta Delta accepted the petition of a local, Delta Upsilon, formed on the Duke University campus, and Alpha Omicron was installed November 7, 1931. Since that time the sorority has grown in membership and prestige. The excellent work of the chapter in the past bespeaks of a successful future.

HISTORY

Pi Beta Phi, the oldest national fraternity for women, was founded April 28, 1867, at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Illinois, under the name of I. C. Sorosis. In 1883, the Greek name was adopted as a sub-title. Five years later, the name I. C. Sorosis was discontinued, and in 1889 the fraternity was incorporated under the state laws of Illinois as Pi Beta Phi.

The journal of Pi Beta Phi, the Arrow, which was first printed in 1885, is published quarterly. As an encouragement for high scholarship, the fraternity maintains a number of scholarships and fellowships for its members.

North Carolina Beta of Pi Beta Phi had its origin in the local sorority, Mu Lambda, founded April 22, 1929. The purpose of the founders of Mu Lambda was to obtain a charter of Pi Beta Phi, and to this end they persevered, refusing unsolicited offers of charters from other national fraternities. A formal petition was presented to Pi Beta Phi on January 14, 1933. On February 17, 1933, Miss Amy Burnham Onken, National Grand President of Pi Beta Phi, formally installed Mu Lambda as North Carolina Beta.

HISTORY

Phi Mu, the second oldest secret organization for women, was founded January 4, 1852, at Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia, under the name of the Philomathean Society. Later the members applied for a charter, thus establishing the foundation of the national organization of Phi Mu.

The Aglaia, the national publication, is issued quarterly. The fraternity, through the Alpha Memorial Fund, affords loans to the members to complete their college courses. The National Philanthropic Endowment Fund assures a permanent national philanthropy.

In April, 1933, a local sorority, Delta Epsilon, was founded at Duke with the purpose of petitioning a national fraternity. The local received many offers of charters from outstanding national fraternities. On July 2, 1934, a petition was presented to Phi Mu at their National Convention, and on November 9, of the same year, Mrs. C. R. Rader, former national president, installed Gamma Epsilon of Phi Mu.

HISTORY

Alpha Phi, one of the first Greek-letter sororities, was founded at Syracuse University, October 10, 1872. It was the first to call an Inter-Sorority Conference, in 1902. An organization was formed at this time which later changed its name to National Pan-Hellenic Congress. Alpha Phi was the first woman's fraternity to build and occupy a chapter house, to have a visiting delegate system, to have an Endowment Fund of $50,000, and to publish a History of the First Fifty Years.

The Alpha Phi Quarterly is published for the purpose of keeping Alpha Phis in touch with one another, with the rest of the Greek world, and with recent events and trends in education.

Three funds are maintained by Alpha Phi. The Founders' Loan Fund serves as a chapter house loan fund and assists Alpha Phis who need financial aid. The Clara Bradley Burdette Scholarship Fund helps new and old chapters which are in need of assistance, and encourages graduate study. The Martha Foote Crow Memorial Fund presents an annual gift to the Syracuse University Loan Fund.

In 1933, a local sorority, Xi Omicron, was organized on the Duke University campus for the purpose of petitioning a national sorority. A formal petition was submitted to Alpha Phi in March, 1935. On May 11, 1935, Mrs. Grace Colton Gordon, National President, formally installed Xi Omicron as Beta Nu chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Epsilon Phi was founded at Barnard College on October 24, 1909. It has the distinction of being the oldest and largest Jewish sorority in existence, having chapters in both the United States and Canada. Scholarship, citizenship, and service are among the ideals stressed in chapter life by Alpha Epsilon Phi.

The chief publication of the sorority is the Columns of Alpha Epsilon Phi.

The national organization has undertaken many philanthropic endeavors, and also has several diversified scholarships for members on campuses where chapters are located.

Alpha Epsilon Phi accepted the petition of the local sorority, Nu Beta Phi, and Alpha Epsilon chapter was installed in 1934 on the Duke campus.

The present Duke University Young Men's Christain Association was organized in old Trinity College in 1887, and soon after that time became a member of the National Council of Student Christian Associations, which is a part of the World Student Christian Federation.

The local "Y" seeks to promote the ideals and purposes of the Student Christian movement and offers the campus an extensive program built around the ideal of a well balanced religious, cultural, and social life.

The Y. M. C. A. has sponsored seven outstanding projects this year:

Freshman Week: Twenty-five "Y" men, assisted by members of Beta Omega Sigma, returned to school early to aid freshmen in their orientation program and to help them feel more at home during their first week on the Duke campus.

Reading Room in the Union: Realizing a long-felt need in the Union building for a reading, smoking, and reception room for the visitors and students, the Y. M. C. A. took the initiative in providing funds through contributions toward the refurnishing of the room, aided greatly in the interior decorating by Mrs. F. M. Hanes. The latest periodicals are provided for the new reading room.

Peace Week: From November 7 to 11, in cooperation with the Duke Fellowship for World Peace, the local organization brought Dr. McNeill Poteat and the Rev. Tom Sykes to this campus to emphasize the need for peace-education among college students. Assembly programs were also conducted on this line.

Dr Toyohiko Kagawa: In collaboration with the Ministerial Association, the local "Y" made possible the appearance of this famed world Christian leader on the Duke campus during his stay in America.

Religious Emphasis Week: In March, the Rev. Dr. Henry H. Crane, of Scranton, Pa., returned for the fourth consecutive year under the auspices of the "Y" to conduct the services of the week. The campus turned out en masse to hear Dr. Crane's interesting, dynamic, and powerful addresses. Open forums and private discussions for various campus groups were also held.

Dad's Day: For the purpose of bringing together the fathers of Duke men, the Y. M. C. A. sponsored Dad's Day over the Easter Week-end for the second time. All Duke Dads were invited to participate with their sons in a representative round of college activities in order that a better understanding of common problems be developed between fathers, sons, and faculty.

Southern Peace-Action Movement: Under the direction of Douglas Corriher and McMurry Richey, the Duke "Y" has been the center of a peace-action movement extending over seven southern states. Peace-Agent, a mimeographed news bulletin, has been published bi-weekly and distributed throughout the South.

In addition to these projects, the Social Committee has sponsored bi-monthly Open Houses which have been very popular among the students. The Recitals Committee has presented free of charge four Tuesday evening recitals to the University community. The Peace Committee brought Dr. Joseph Artman to the campus for discussion with various groups. Magazines are furnished the Student Infirmary and Southgate Dormitory. The "Y" also publishes the Duke Handbook and the Student Directory.

Thus continuing its program of expansion, the Y. M. C. A. seeks to spread Christian ideals into every phase of student life on the campus.

William Fickes
President

The Sophomore Council of the Duke University Y. M. C. A., which was organized in the fall of 1933, is the latest addition to that organization. It is, more or less, an intermediary step between the Freshman Council and the Senior Cabinet. A limited number of the Freshman Council who have shown interest and taken an active part in Y. M. C. A. work are selected each year to make up the Sophomore Council. Its members serve as assistants to the committee chairmen of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, which is composed of juniors and seniors.

Besides serving as assistants to the Senior Cabinet, the members of the Sophomore Council have a definite part to play in various activities sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. This year the Council has taken an active part in Freshman Week, Thanksgiving Day service in the chapel, and Religious Emphasis Week. The Council sponsored on the Easter Week-end the second annual Duke Dads' Day, an event which has become one of the most popular on the campus. Dads' Day was started last year by the Sophomore Council and met with more approval and success than had been anticipated.

The primary purpose of the Freshman Council is to stimulate among freshmen a feeling of Christian fellowship. In this manner the organization is creating lasting friendships among first year men, and training future workers for the Y. M. C. A.

The council has been extremely active in extracurricular activities. The programs of the group have been of great variety, including speakers representing the faculty and the students, smokers, informal discussions, socials, and hikes.

The Council was active in getting the Southern Conference to permit the broadcasting of football games. Another worthwhile activity that it originated was a "Prep-School Day," a day on which the members of high school and preparatory school seniors who were interested in a college career might become familiar with Duke University. The Council has also sponsored tours of the Duke Hospital, and has donated a Christmas tree for the lobby of the Men's Union.

The Freshman Council is a highly cosmopolitan group which, through the varied programs offered, has gained insight into the ideals and functions of the Y. M. C. A. Thus it serves as an intermediary between new students, the "Y" organization, and its own work.

The Young Women's Christian Association of Duke University, a member of the Young Women's Christian Association of the United States of America and participant in the World Student Christian Federation, declares its purposes as follows:

"We, the members of the Young Women's Christain Association of Duke University, unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God.

"We determine to have a part in making this life possible for all people.

"In this task we seek to understand Jesus and follow Him."

The work of the Y. W. C. A. is carried out through an Advisory Board composed of members of the faculty and women of the community. The Cabinet is composed of the chairmen of various committees. These committees, social, publicity, social service, worship, program, freshman, and the interracial committees, are the means of carrying out effectively the work of the "Y" in its various branches.

Particularly outstanding has been the work of the Social Service Committee in securing contributions of clothes, offering other services for local welfare agencies, enlisting the volunteer services of the students for palyground work at Wright's Refuge, and in connection with the Duke Hospital and Legal Aid Clinic.

The Women's Athletic Association was founded in the spring of 1929. Its membership has increased during these six years to such an extent that it is now one of the leading campus organizations. The Association now has over three hundred members.

Three of the greatest incentives for the promotion of athletic interest are: the field days which are held in the fall, winter, and spring; the awarding of letters, numerals, and sweaters; and the athletic cabin.

In the fall, events in hockey, soccer, swimming, and riding are held while basketball and volley ball tournaments are held during the winter. The final events, tennis, archery, baseball, and track, are held in the spring.

In giving awards, a point system has been established which gives class numerals to the fifteen girls who have the most points in each class. A black "D" goes to each of the ten girls who has the most points regardless of class. Old English "D's" are given to the six junior girls having the most points at the end of the year. These girls comprise the All-Duke Honorary Team. The class having the largest total of points for the year has its numerals placed on the banner which is in the gymnasium.

As an organization for promoting the interest of students of the Women's College in athletics, the Women's Athletic Association is performing a valuable service on the East Campus.

TOWN GIRLS' CLUB

Inez Abernethy
President

In 1927, the Town Girls' Club, composed of all of the town women students, was organized under the direction of Mrs. Hazen Smith. Since that date the Club has functioned as an integral part of the Woman's College, being represented on the Student Council by its president.

The Club aims to keep girls who live off the campus in close connection with university life and to promote a spirit of good will among its members and the dormitory girls. To encourage the girls in various activities, the Club offers a prize to the member who has the greatest number of points in leadership and scholarship for the year. This point system is outlined in the undergraduate handbook.

Under the leadership of its officers, the Town Girls' Club has placed itself in a position of prominence as one of the leading organizations on the East Campus, not only in point of membership, but also in point of its activities. It has provided an invaluable connecting link between the town girls and the resident students, and has thus provided a further incentive for Durham girls to attend Duke University.

Delta Phi Alpha has completed its fourth year of existence on the Duke campus. Having developed from the local German Club, which lost its identity in the spring of 1931, it has attempted to perpetuate and to extend the ideals of that body. The organization is honorary, its membership comprising those students who have earned a minimum average of 2.25 quality points through the second year of German language, particularly in German literature and culture. The basic purpose of the organization is to bring together such students, providing them with advantages denied them as individuals, and to help sustain and broaden their interest. This year, Delta Phi Alpha has sponsored a society for the advancement of interest in German, membership in which is voluntary.

The colors of the organization are red, black, and gold. The key, bearing the coat of arms in three colors, is the complete emblem of the fraternity. The German Eagle in gold is raised on a black background. In the center of the eagle's breast is a shield upon which the three Greek letters, Delta Phi Alpha, are engraved

In point of membership the organization is one of the largest on the campus, having over forty members whose interest and scholarship in German has made them eligible for membership. With the raising of membership requirements the society should be even stronger in stimulating interest in German.

The Music Study Club was organized four years ago for the purpose of arousing and encouraging an appreciation of music among the women students of Duke University. Besides holding monthly meetings at which various kinds of talented musicians are presented, the Club has sponsored several concerts by noted artists.

In this organization we see embodied some of the aims and ambitions that unfortunately are fast dying out in the changing system of education. The general attitude is becoming one of popular dependence on the other person to entertain rather than an active participation or effort to entertain one's self, as was previously necessary before the advent of the radio and the motion picture with sound. The idea is prevalent that only the weaker human beings seek this study as a last resort. Were there a greater turning to the fine arts and especially to music by the public as a whole in the form of creative study and interest, there would be a real cultural improvement.

In our educational system such interests have been allowed to slip, due to a popular demand for materialism. A turn back, as in this Club's step, is a welcome relief, at least to an idealist.

This year the club has sponsored several gatherings which were welcomed with great pleasure not only by the women but also by the men, especially the concert in which Nino Martini appeared. Such concerts have filled a real need on both campuses, and we feel that the Music Study Club has done a great service to the University in sponsoring them.

Delta Phi Rho Alpha is a local honorary athletic sorority which was created as a sister organization to Tombs, the athletic fraternity for men. This sorority was founded at Old Trinity College in 1921, and since then has become one of the traditions on the campus.

There is constant need for women's interest in outdoor sports and athletic activity. This organization comes as an answer to such a demand. Through exercise, one of the fundamental bodily needs, it promotes health.

Every year, seven new members are chosen after consideration of their leadership in athletic ability. Annually, it is the custom for these pledges to appear in the traditional "goat" costume—a middy blouse, cotton hose and tennis shoes—and to carry the symbolic rolling pin with the Greek inscription, Delta Phi Rho Alpha, inscribed upon it.

This year, the sorority has sponsored a tennis tournament, presenting a silver loving cup to the winner. Each year, in addition, an inter-class basketball tournament is fostered. The winning team is awarded a banner with class numerals, providing an admirable sense of class consciousness. This promotes an interest in athletics which stimulates friendly rivalries and participation in healthful sports.

Elko-L was founded at Trinity College in 1914, with the purpose of encouraging and rewarding women of the college who had attained a marked degree of scholastic achievement. Its establishment came as an answer to the demand for recognition of those who had reached a mark of excellence in their undergraduate work. It served supreme in this capacity for six years, at which time it was partially supplanted by the establishment of Phi Beta Kappa. Eko-L then assumed a position similar to that of 9019 on the men's campus, in that both are local societies drawing their membership from the two upper classes.

The membership of Eko-L is quite select, and it is recognized as a great honor to become a part of this society. Since the year of its founding it has maintained a high standard of leadership as well as scholarship on the Duke women's campus, and it is duly proud of the record which has been made by those who have been deemed worthy of membership.

In past years, this society has sponsored interesting and worthwhile contests throughout the schools of the state in the writing of short stories and poetry. These contests serve not only as a means of scholastic recognition, but also as a means of advancing the interests of Trinity College and Duke University among the people of the state.

It may be seen, therefore, that Eko-L serves as an active organization as well as being a reward for scholarship of a superior type. By not confining itself purely to the honorary type of organization, Eko-L performs an additional service to the University.

The Nereidian Club was founded in the spring of 1930 for the promotion of better swimming among the women of Duke University. This is an honorary organization and membership is based on ability in swimming, which is determined by various tests of strokes, dives, and speed. The members of the Club are the sole participants in the swimming meets given in cooperation with the Women's Athletic Association. In the spring and fall of each year, the Nereidians sponsor a traditional water pageant to which all the student body is invited.

In order to determine those worthy of membership, various tryouts are given twice each year. Each potential member is judged by ten or more members of the Club and two faculty members. Then grades are averaged and the new Nereid is voted upon by the club in regard to ability in swimming and personal factors.

The colors of the organization, red, gold, and blue, are embodied in the head of a Devil Fish which is the emblem worn on the suit of each member.

This year's Nereidian Club feels that it has accomplished much towards encouraging aquatic sports, and it earnestly hopes that its members will continue to promote the best interests of the organization.

Beta Omega Sigma was organized as an honorary sophomore fraternity at Trinity College in 1917. The underlying principles of the organization are: to honor freshmen who lead in extra-curricular activities, to supervise freshman discipline, and to aid in furthering tradition and school spirit on the campus.

This year B. O. S. members gave their services to the freshmen during the first week of school. Their work, however, did not stop with Freshman Orientation. The fraternity met each week with the house officers of the various freshman dormitories. These meetings rendered a great aid in fostering a splendid spirit in the freshman class. B. O. S. assisted during home-coming day by offering three prizes for the best decorations on the campus. It also cooperated with Sandals, the similar organization for women, in sponsoring a benefit dance. In addition, the members have begun a movement to expand the organization into a national fraternity.

The Class of 1938 feels that it has accomplished the results expected of it, and is ambitious for the continuance of its work by the Class of 1939. With a tradition of respect and service behind it, B. O. S. looks forward to a future of increased activity and campus usefulness.

PHI ETA SIGMA

Phi Eta Sigma is the only national freshman honorary scholastic fraternity in existence; and, since it was founded at the University of Illinois in 1923, it has grown rapidly. There are now thirty-five chapters situated in various educational centers throughout the United States.

Membership in Phi Eta Sigma is extended to those freshmen who show by their scholastic achievements that they are endowed with exceptional intellectual ability. The requirements for membership are practically equal to a Phi Beta Kappa average for one semester or an average of 2.25 quality points per semester hour of work carried. Phi Eta Sigma is not an end in itself, however, but only a beginning. Grades as such are unimportant; but, as an indication of ability and sincerity of purpose, they are very important.

In 1932, after a year's existence as a local chapter, Alpha Eta, a petition was granted, whereby the Duke chapter of Phi Eta Sigma was established, the result of the efforts of the late Dean M. Arnold, who was the faculty adviser and an honorary member of the fraternity. Since his death, Dean Alan K. Manchester, also an honorary member, has ably filled the position of faculty adviser.

Last spring Phi Eta Sigma held its fourth national convention at the University of Oklahoma; at which our vice president represented the Duke chapter.

Although the fraternity has been primarily an honorary organization during the four brief years of its existence on the Duke campus, it has ably provided an incentive for good scholarship among freshman men.

Sandals is an honorary sophomore organization which was started by the Woman's College Student Government in 1932. Its twenty members are girls chosen at the end of their freshman year for outstanding leadership in scholarship, general attitude, and activity on the campus. They assist the Student Government, help during Freshman Week, and cooperate with Social Standards in maintaining the Ark, a recreational center on the East Campus.

An outstanding innovation this year was a Sandals-Beta Omega Sigma dance, which, it is hoped, will become a tradition. Their project of improving the Ark consisted in building a stairway to the balcony, which was painted and improved for use, thereby giving more room for the ping-pong tables upstairs and providing greater dancing space with a better position for the orchestra. The lighting system is scheduled to be changed, and improvements in interior decorations are to be made. The proceeds from the joint dance are to go into a fund for this purpose. The Ark is being used more and more, and fills a vital need in the social life of the college.

The Sandals have created for themselves a very real place among the campus organizations in the short time of their existence upon the campus.

The society looks forward with confidence to the future with the belief that its scope of service and usefulness to the University will be increased as its traditions become more firmly established.

Iota Gamma Pi was founded in October, 1922, by a group of students in scientific departments of Trinity College. Previous to this time there was no organization of any kind devoted primarily to the interests of students in the different scientific fields, and there was a feeling among a few interested students that there should be some society or group which would promote fraternal interests between men in the fields of science. They also desired to recognize scholarship and leadership in this work.

This fraternity is composed of twenty or twenty-five men from the junior and senior classes of Trinity College who have excelled in scholarship and leadership, and who are primarily interested in some branch of scientific study. At the bi-monthly meetings of the fraternity the students give talks and discuss the latest developments in their own fields of study. Through these meetings, the members of the fraternity gain valuable knowledge concerning what is going on in other lines of work, and at the same time each student has an opportunity to discuss his own findings.

In stimulating interest in scientific studies and in rewarding with membership those students who demonstrate their proficiency in such subjects, Iota Gamma Pi is endeavoring to further enthusiasm for what it believes to be the primary purpose of college training. If the fraternity succeeds in its ideals, it will have performed a worthy service to the University.

Alpha Kappa Psi is the oldest and largest national professional commerce fraternity. From a small group of ten founders at New York University in 1904 It has grown into an international organization numbering forty-three college chapters and fourteen alumni chapters with a membership of more than 10,000. Beta Eta chapter was founded at Duke University in December, 1929, and since that time has inducted 134 members.

The purposes of the fraternity are two-fold: to further professional development in fields of commerce, accounting, and finance; and to foster higher standards of business ethics. Alpha Kappa Psi affords a medium through which men with common interests can form beneficial contacts.

The official publication of the fraternity is The Diary of Alpha Kappa Psi, which contains many educational items concerning current business problems written by active and alumni members.

The fraternity offers annually the Alpha Kappa Psi Scholarship Medallion to the senior maintaining the highest average in economic studies at Duke University. This year, the local chapter, in collaboration with Dr. Nichol, of the Economics Department, established a bookshelf in the University library which is devoted to vocational guidance. The program on the campus includes bi-monthly smokers at which prominent business men and professors discuss current economic problems.

CHI DELTA PHI

Nancy Hudson
President

Chi Delta Phi, national honorary literary sorority, was founded in 1919 at the University of Tennessee. The purpose of the sorority is to bring together representative college women who, by their literary interest and creative ability, shall uphold the highest ideals of a liberal education.

There are at present thirty-eight chapters of Chi Delta Phi, the Duke chapter having been established in 1922. The publication of the sorority is the Litterateur, issued quarterly; the badge, a five-pointed star in blue, bearing on its face a lamp and the three Greek letters of the name in gold, the whole being surrounded by a gold or pearl circle, with a pair of quills across the pin beneath the star. The national colors are blue and gold; the flower is the pansy.

The national organization holds annual poetry and prose contests, entries being received from its own chapters and from those of Sigma Upsilon, a similar literary organization for men.

In an effort to stimulate literary interest on the campus, the Duke chapter has held a series of open meetings at which authorities in different phases of literary activity have spoken before the group. Honorary members of Chi Delta Phi have addressed the organization, and during the fall semester the sorority sponsored an exhibit of children's books in connection with National Children's Book Week.

The order of 9019 was founded many years ago on the campus of Trinity College, before the institution was moved, in 1892; from Randolph County to Durham.

The purposes of the organization are the fostering of scholarship and the support of all movements in college, city, or state which are aimed at cultural or intellectual advancement.

Membership in 9019 is granted on the basis of two consecutive years of study at Trinity College with an average grade of B plus, or as recorded by the University, of two and one-quarter quality points.

The roll book of the society lists over five hundred and twenty-five members, of whom thirty-two are now undergraduates in the College. Once every year, "9019 Day," February 21, many of the alumni members gather on the campus for a reunion and banquet and for a discussion of the accomplishments of the past year and the plans for the one to come.

The program of activities, not strictly limited to 9019 members, has included in former years a state-wide oratorical contest for high school seniors. More recently the group has sponsored a series of Current Events Forums in which topics of national or international interest in the fields of politics, economics, foreign affairs, and so forth, have been presented before enthusiastic audiences. By continuing and broadening such programs as these, 9019 hopes to become, more and more, an influential factor in the University life and to assist in raising the cultural and scholastic standards of the College.

Tombs, a local athletic fraternity, was established at Trinity College in 1905. Founded primarily as an honorary athletic organization, Tombs has evolved into one of the outstanding, beneficial brotherhoods on the Duke campus. No longer purely honorary, the organization bids athletic letter-winners. This past year the society drew up a new constitution. In addition to fostering better relationship in sports between Duke and other universities, Tombs endeavors to build up school spirit, to implant more firmly the traditions of old Trinity, and to create new ones for the rapidly growing Duke University. The one night of freshman reverence for this organization and the traditions for which it stands, Tombs Night, has been eliminated. This year Tombs sponsored a movement against smoking in the gymnasium. A high school invitation track meet or basketball tournament has also been proposed.

Though there are inscribed on its rolls the names of many celebrities of national sports, the men who are invited to Tombs are not only those who star on the athletic field but also, in many cases, those who are leaders in campus government and scholarship. Thus is made an effective answer to the cries of over-emphasis of sports in the leading universities of the country.

OUR GREAT SEAL . . .

AND WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU

Fidelity, according to the dictionary, means "faithfulness to trust or obligation." That is the first principle of this bank. The Fidelity seal stands for that — and more. It stands for Experience, Judgment, Management; for a bank with a long record. It means that experienced and skillful hands are handling your banking affairs, whether it be a savings account, commercial account or a trust agreement.

Behind the imprint of the Fidelity seal is the group judgment of our officers and directors; broad experience and training not easily acquired — all of which is available to every customer of the Fidelity.
